Great Highway Is Planned From Chicago to Florida; Will Pass Through Atlanta

William Snydor Gilbreath, of Indianapolis, Leader in Good Roads Movement in the Middle West, Brings Matter Before Gov. Slaton.

PLAN HAS INDORSEMENT OF INDIANA GOVERNOR

Georgia Executive Pledges His Full Co-operation—All Governors of States Thro' Which Road Will Pass Will Be Asked to Aid.

With a view to building and establishing a great highway between Jacksonville and Chicago, or between the Great Lakes and the gulf, a direct highway, which shall pass through Atlanta as one of its main points of interest and importance, William Snydor Gilbreath, of Indianapolis, Ind., called upon Governor John M. Slaton on Monday.

Mr. Gilbreath, who is a prominent factor in the good roads movement in the middle west, is in Atlanta attending the fourth annual American Road congress in the interest of this great highway.

The new route is to be called "The Cotton Belt Route," unless those states which have become interested in it may choose another name.

Indorsed By Ralston.

Mr. Gilbreath came to Atlanta with a letter of introduction and indorsement from Governor Samuel M. Ralston, of Indiana.

Governor Slaton on Monday pledged to Mr. Gilbreath his co-operation in whatever plan the governors of other states interested might evolve. This insures the co-operation of Georgia in the promotion of one of the greatest highways ever proposed in the United States.

Mr. Gilbreath intends to work up sufficient sentiment in those states through which the proposed highway will pass to warrant the activities of the states in the promotion of the highway.

It is the plan of Mr. Gilbreath to secure the co-operation of all the governors in the states through which the proposed highway shall pass. Having secured this co-operation, Mr. Gilbreath believes that either through correspondence or through a conference of the governors a feasible plan for this highway can be worked out.

Mr. Gilbreath's Views.

Says Mr. Gilbreath:

"At the present time there are almost two million motor cars in the United States. In the middle states, immediately north of the southern states, there are over 400,000 automobiles, while the southern states have only 104,000 cars. Touring in the southern states is entirely closed to the 400,000 owners of automobiles in the middle western states, and these people want to go south in the fall and winter months in their machines. It is, of course, impossible to fix up all the roads in the south, but it is not at all impossible if the same concerted effort is put on one direct road through from Louisville to Jacksonville, that this road could be repaired, put in good condition and ready by next fall for the thousands of tourists that will gladly flock to the south. For the next two or three years there will be very little touring abroad by the American people, and it appeals to the writer that now is the psychological time for a strong organization to be formed between Indianapolis and Jacksonville, Fla., by way of Louisville, Nashville, Chattanooga, Atlanta, Macon and Tifton. This road would be almost direct—and with the governors in the several states interested, and the chamber of commerce in the different states along the route and the people who own property along the road acting in at once, this road can be ready for use next fall.

Waiting for Opportunity.

"You people in the south have wonderful scenery that is most unusual and attractive to owners of automobiles in the middle western states, and we are only waiting for an opportunity to drive through your country for the natural necessities of all kinds that go with automobiling. I understand from road guides that I have carefully gone over that a good many sections of this road are now first-class, while other parts are unusually bad. It is this class of a thoroughly connected highway leading to the south which will attract tourists if this country from going south. A first-class highway for a hundred miles in Tennessee, if each end of it is a mud road, is practically useless for touring purposes. I have driven over a great deal of the south considerably and I think that the most practical route through to Jacksonville is by way of Nashville, Chattanooga, Atlanta and Macon. I think it is only within reason to expect that if you had at the present time a thoroughly first-grade road from Louisville to Jacksonville 300,000 automobile tourists would use this road next winter. The average touring car contains four people, the average expense for hotel bills, gasoline, tires, etc., is $20 per day for each car. A tourist on a trip of this kind would spend a month in the south—or at an expense to the average car of $600 per car. It would not take a great deal of figuring for you to see the immense amount of money that would be left in the southern states by an invasion of this class of desirable people and the only reason why you do not have them this winter is the lack of a thoroughly good road into your country."

TELLS HIS WIFE HIS INTENTIONS AND KILLS SELF

Lawrenceville, Ga., November 8.—(Special.)—D. Y. Jones, a well-known citizen of Gwinnett county, shot and killed himself at his home near Lilburn, yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Jones had been threatening to take his life for some time, but his family believed he had given up the idea. He was sitting by the fire with his wife Sunday afternoon when he suddenly got up and told her good-by, saying he was going to kill himself. He walked out into the yard and fired the fatal shot.

Jones was about 55 years old. His wife, formerly a Miss Lee, survives him with about ten children, most of whom are grown.

CONGRESS TO ASK GOVERNMENT AID FOR GOOD ROADS

Leaders Determined, However, That Help Must Not Be Given to the Movement in "Pork Barrel" Form.

COMPETENT COMMISSION URGED TO HANDLE FUND

Suggested That the States Through Which the Federal Highways Pass Are to Build "Feeder" Roads.

Banquet Tonight.

A banquet at the New Kimball house will be the gala feature of the American Roads congress tonight. Governor John M. Slaton, Senator Hoke Smith, A. B. Fletcher, of California, president of the congress, will be the speakers. A song book will be placed at each diner's place, and singing will be indulged. No invitations have been sent out, but everyone can get tickets at the Kimball house, Piedmont hotel, Winecoff hotel, Aragon hotel and at the office of the executive secretary at the Auditorium-Armory. Tickets are for sale at $5 a plate.

That the American Road congress is going to have federal aid for the construction of good roads in the United States and have that aid not in "pork barrel" form was the idea driven home in practically every speech made at the morning and afternoon sessions of the fourth congress, which opened its sessions in Taft hall, at the Auditorium-Armory, in Atlanta, on Monday. The speakers of Monday's meetings were entirely agreed on the plan for such aid and a plan for having it carried out in Washington.

The plan for getting action at Washington, which is of primary importance, is, in the graphic words of Mr. Kenyon, president of the Indiana Good Roads association, "to shake your fist under the nose of your congressman and tell him that if he is not in favor of federal aid you are not in favor of him."

Commission is Wanted.

The plan which the federal government should pursue in aiding road construction, as generally outlined by Monday's speakers, is to have whatever road fund congress might appropriate placed in the hands of a competent commission, which shall select the locations for the expenditure of the fund. It was argued that to appropriate good roads money in "pork barrel" fashion, as much as it might boost the stock of individual congressmen "back home," would be resultant in no practical progress in road building. This plan would merely smear an insufficient fund thinly over a large territory.

A commission for dispensing the money, however, should place the money only after a careful study of conditions. Thus good trunk roads would be built where they would be most needed. Repeating this procedure each year, a splendid system of federal trunk roads could be constructed.

In this plan it is not contemplated that the federal government shall bear the expense of the upkeep of the roads. This is to be borne by the states through which such highways would be built.

It is further contemplated that states through which these highways are built should appropriate proportionate amounts for the construction of "feeder" roads. Thus the system would be worked out.

2,000 Delegates Here.

Fully 2,000 delegates had arrived in Atlanta last night to the road congress. The registration of delegates goes on hourly at the Auditorium-Armory, each train into the city, from every corner of the country, bringing in its quota of delegates.

The Monday afternoon session was devoted to the discussion of federal legislation for good roads. The opinion of the speakers was that to get good roads there must be aid and supervision from the national government.

The afternoon session opened with George Family Diehl, chairman of the Good Roads American Automobile association, presiding.

The session was devoted to the subject of "Federal Legislation," under the auspices of the American Automobile association.

Mr. Delhi stated that the association is maintaining an office in Washington, D. C., for the purpose of getting federal legislation for the construction of an efficient system of roads, which object cannot be gained by localities bearing expense and building the roads by piecemeal, nor can the expenses be equitably distributed.

The proper division of the expense is one of the big arguments for a federal road law. One-half of the states

Setting Uncle Sam Right!

Old Friends Slain In a Pistol Duel Over European War

Because of the European war, William A. Lindsey, conductor, and John Reynolds, motorman, of the Marietta carline, carmates for the last nine years, and residents of Marietta, are dead, following a duel at midnight at the carbarns at Marietta.

According to C. B. Greer, who, with F. C. Wallace, night watchman at the car barns, and N. C. Wallace witnessed the shooting, when the car of the dead motorman and conductor had pulled in at the barns, both Conductor Lindsey and Motorman Reynolds went to the waiting room of the Marietta station. Conductor Lindsey was making out his final night report when he remarked that he had seen in the newspapers that 3,000,000 Germans had been killed.

LIE IS PASSED.

Greer states that Motorman Reynolds thereupon called Lindsey a liar.

After this several violent epithets passed and Conductor Lindsey drew his revolver and opened fire.

He fired one shot and Motorman Reynolds fell. Whether Lindsey fired more shots is not known.

Lying upon the floor of the waiting room, Motorman Reynolds drew a revolver and returned fire, shooting four shots.

Lindsey fell.

Dr. Leslie Blair, of Marietta, who was passing in an automobile at the time, was attracted by the shots and stopped. When he entered Motorman Reynolds was already dead.

He took Conductor Lindsey in his machine to Nolan sanitarium, but Lindsey died within thirty minutes after the shots were fired in the waiting room.

WITNESSES TO FIGHT.

The only witnesses to the fray, it is said, were Night Watchman Wallace, his son, and C. B. Greer, the latter of whom told his story to The Constitution by long-distance telephone last night.

Conductor Lindsey and Motorman Reynolds had not only been car mates on the Marietta line ever since its establishment, it is said, but were also close neighbors in Marietta, where both lived.

Reynolds was about 50 years old. Lindsey was about 45 years of age.

They had been the best of friends for a decade or more until the moment's passion, when the fortunes of war across the Atlantic ended the lives of both.

Reynolds, it is said, leaves a wife and three children. Lindsey leaves a wife.

Both men were well known both in Atlanta and Marietta and had many friends in both places.

MAN WHO FORGED FOR HUNGRY WIFE SEEKING A PAROLE

A pathetic plea for parole has been sent to Atlanta by E. L. Hartmann, who was sentenced to three years on the state prison farm in Milledgeville for forgery he committed in desperation to provide for his wife when she was hungry and about to become a mother.

Mrs. Hartmann, who became a mother shortly after her husband's arrest in New Orleans, is working earnestly to obtain his freedom. She has taken up her residence near the Milledgeville prison, where she can see him as often as prison rules permit.

In a letter to friends in Atlanta Hartmann, who is 23 years old and a native of Germany, says that he be released upon parole at the completion of his first year's service on January 30 next year.

UNABLE TO GET JOB, HE SLASHES ARTERY, BIDS WIFE GOOD-BYE

Savannah, Ga., November, 9.—(Special.)—Despondent because of repeated failures to find work, coupled with the fact that poverty was forcing him to be separated from his family, H. S. Freeman today severed an artery in his wrist and allowed himself to bleed to death. He has a slight chance to live, though his condition is critical. After slashing his arm, Freeman called his wife and kissed her good-bye.

CONTRACT IS PLACED FOR 20 SUBMARINES

Boston, November 9.—An order for the immediate construction of twenty submarines has been placed with the Fore River Ship Building Corporation of Quincy, it was learned today. Officials at the plant refused information as to the identity of the power for which the submarines are intended. An officer of the corporation said the order would amount to about $10,000,000.

MORE BLOODSHED LIKELY IN MEXICO

Carranza Proposes to Fight. It Is Reported Mexico City Bank Has Been Looted. United States Marines Land at Acapulco.

Vera Cruz, November 9.—According to private telegrams received here the National Bank of Mexico City has been sacked by a mob led by constitutionalist soldiers.

Mexico City, November 9.—It is reported here that the port of Acapulco, on the Pacific, has been occupied by American marines. The occupation is said to have followed a request of the inhabitants, who were suffering great privations owing to the revolution.

SITUATION DELICATE, SAYS WASHINGTON.

Washington, November 9.—Administration officials admitted tonight that the Mexican situation again had assumed a delicate aspect.

General Carranza has fulfilled partially Washington's request for guarantees before withdrawing American troops from Vera Cruz, but his decree does not satisfy the main point asked by the United States—that Mexicans who served the American government during the occupation of the port be not punished subsequently for such service.

Gutierres to Take Office.

At 6 o'clock tomorrow night General Eulalio Gutierres, selected by the Aguas Calientes convention, will be sworn in as provisional president of Mexico. Carranza has been informed and immediately thereafter Gutierres will begin if he does not recognize the authority of Gutierres.

On account of the brevity of Carranza's tenure, the American government in all probability will take no cognizance of the decree which he is reported to have issued respecting the American occupation of Vera Cruz. General Gutierres already has assured agents of the United States government that when he is sworn in he will issue a proclamation covering all points desired. General Villa has stated that he will back up Gutierres in such a proclamation.

A difficult situation may arise, however, as is generally expected in Washington, Carranza defies the convention and his forces and those under control of the convention begin to battle. General Candido Aguilar, commanding the state of Vera Cruz, is loyal to Carranza. With unrest inspired by Carranza through the issuance of circulars and pertinent calling on the American forces to withdraw, officials realize that the situation at Vera Cruz might become strained at any moment.

Army Against Carranza.

In official quarters here there is a feeling that General Carranza realizes that the bulk of the army is against him and will not oppose the convention's orders. A special agent of the American government at Aguas Calientes reported that the convention recently admonished Carranza not to attempt to distribute a fund of 5,000,000 pesos through the army as he planned, giving generals 5,000 each and privates ten pesos each outside of their salary. The convention informed Carranza he would be held personally responsible for the use of the funds.

The assembly also has issued a manifesto proclaiming its sovereignty and has telegraphed all agencies throughout foreign lands and through Mexico, stating that it will be in supreme con-

Despite Reverses Germans Continue Headlong Charges

Although the Russians Are in East Germany, the Kaiser Is Still Vainly Hurling His Troops Against the Anglo-French Lines in Flanders and Northern France—Military Experts Believe the Germans Are Making a Final Effort for Success in the West—Reports Indicate That the Russians Are Continuing Their Advance.

London, November 9.—The Germans have renewed their offensive in the vicinity of Ypres and Dixmude, where several attempts to break through the allied lines to the coast of France were repulsed after the most severe fighting of the war.

Despite reverses the Austro-German armies have suffered in the east, where the Russians have set their feet in German territory, both in East Prussia and Posen, the Germans are said to be still sending reinforcements to the west in an endeavor to break down the resistance of the French, British and Belgians, who, in places, have made small but important advances.

There has been no decisive action fought along the whole front, but each side is making gains which may count when the crisis is at hand. With the tremendous forces opposing each other, any progress necessarily must be slow in these days of siege battles, but both the allies and the Germans express satisfaction with the way in which the battle has gone thus far.

WAR TO BE WAGED TO THE BITTER END BY GREAT BRITAIN

Asquith, Churchill, Kitchener and Balfour Declare the Enemy Must Be Crushed at Whatever Cost.

London, November 9.—That England is prepared to carry on the war indefinitely, with every confidence in the result, was the tenor of the speeches at the annual banquet inaugurating the new lord mayor of London at Guild Hall tonight, delivered by the men responsible for the conduct of the war.

Notable speeches were made by the prime minister, H. H. Asquith, Field Marshal Earl Kitchener, secretary for war, and Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the admiralty.

Lord Kitchener, while expressing satisfaction at the response to his call for men, impressed on the nation that the war would be a long one and he would require "more men and still more until the enemy is crushed."

He also made a quiet reference to England's army, which, he said, "has proved itself to be not so contemptible an engine of war as some were disposed to consider it," and reminded his hearers that the enemy would have to reckon with the forces of the sea dominions, the vanguard of which had arrived in England, in addition to the million and a quarter men now training in this country.

Spells Doom of Germany.

Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, told of the work of the navy and continued:

"It is difficult to measure the full influence of the naval pressure in the early stages of the war, but it will spell the doom of Germany as surely as winter strikes the leaves from the trees."

"As to the losses suffered, he said: "The punishment we receive is clear and definite; the punishment we inflict often is not seen and when seen often cannot be measured. But time will tell."

The first lord also pointed out that despite losses the navy was stronger in every way than at the beginning of the war.

Premier Asquith, who devoted much of his speech to the war with Turkey, said it rested with the Anglo-Saxon race, man domination, not only in Europe, but in Asia."

He also predicted that the war would be a long one, but said nothing would daunt either hopes nor impair their resolve and that England would not sheath the sword until Belgium had recovered all that she had sacrificed, until France had been secured from the menace of oppression and until the military domination of Prussia had been destroyed.

Balfour Scores Germany.

After the formal toast to the king and royal family had been proposed, ex-Premier Arthur J. Balfour proposed "the allies." He emphasized that the toast was without precedent, but he added, "we are living in times that also are without precedent, when the whole world stirs in its dreams or is anxious expectation."

Japan, continued Mr. Balfour, had made one of the most dramatic answers by the capture of Tsing-Tau, to the most insolent message ever sent by one sovereign to another—that which seventeen years ago compelled Japan to give up Port Arthur, which she had taken from the Chinese.

The former premier spoke in glowing terms of the gallantry of the Russian army, the powers of organization displayed by Grand Duke Nich-

RUSSIANS MARCH INTO GERMANY.

In the east the Russian advance guards are fighting on both the East Prussian and Posen borders, and it is believed that the Germans have given up their first plan of resisting the Russian advance on the positions which they had prepared along the Warthe river.

According to a German report, the Russians have suffered a reverse on the East Prussian frontier, where they lost 4,000 men and some machine guns, but of the fighting elsewhere in this region, Berlin says nothing.

There have been no developments in the near east, the engagements fought being between Russian and Turkish frontier guards in the Caucasus or the bombardment of ports.

The slackness in the recruiting in England has been given a fillip by the march of some of the crack territorial regiments in today's procession through the streets of London in connection with the inauguration of the lord mayor, in which Canadian and other Dominion troops took part.

From all sections of the country come reports of an increasing number of young men offering themselves for service.

SUPREME EFFORT BY GERMANS.

Paris, November 9.—Though a general battle has been proceeding for three days along the whole front, from the sea to the Vosges, the Germans have not been able to find a weak spot in the allies' defense.

It still is in Flanders that interest centers. Here Germans are concentrating there all the men they can get, and ceaselessly are hurling them against the allies. Never has this method been directed with such tenacity and fury as now.

The fight on the line from Ypres to the Lys are even more violent than those against the coast road and the

ROGERS IS TELLING YOU ABOUT IT

In this advertisement appears many articles—some foodstuffs, others for household uses—which are made right here in Atlanta.

We want you to know what they are—who makes them—how good they are—how cheap we can sell them to you—and how it is to your advantage, as a loyal Atlantan, to patronize home industries.

Just as far as it is possible for us to do so, we are featuring this week the articles made right here at our door. When we sell these goods—when you hand over your hard-earned cash for them—this money goes right back into Atlanta's trade channels. It isn't sent to the east or the north or the west—but it is turned back to the home manufacturer. He, in turn, hands much of it back to his employees—to the man who fires his furnace, or boils his syrup, or makes his brooms, or ships his goods, or keeps his books. Maybe that man is a neighbor or friend of yours.

You have helped him—helped yourself—and helped Atlanta—and we are satisfied with the small profit we have made.

passages of the Yser. It is the British who bear the brunt of these onslaughts. In many places their lines have become so thin, says an officer who has just returned from that region, that only by showing obstinacy worthy of the traditions of Waterloo are they able to hold their ground. Their losses in officers have been terrible. One battalion of foot guards went into action commanded by a non-commissioned officer. Certain cavalry regiments have lost half their effective strength.

Occasionally, according to this officer, the Germans capture some trenches, but by vigorous counter attacks the British regain them and win fresh ground. The Indian troops continue to bear themselves magnificently, despite enormous losses. They have proved themselves the equal of any other troops, both in defending the trenches or in attacking positions.

Britons Slaughter German Brigade.

Compared with the German losses, this officer continues, those of the allies appear almost insignificant.

After night attacks 800 German dead, he says, often are found before a single allies' trench. Recently a British battalion caught a German brigade in close formation and slaughtered 1,000 of its men in a few minutes, the officer claims.

The fight rages with the greatest intensity north of Ypres on the Menin road, the Ypres canal, the Lys and the plateau crossed by the road from Ypres to Armentieres. Here the offensive by the allies has been met by violent counter attacks supported by the concentrated fire of massed batteries.

The Germans, so far, are said to have achieved nothing, while slowly but surely, the allies creep forward.

In Artois, Pas-de-Calais, an important engagement is being fought. The Germans are assailing particularly the village of Cambrin, on the road from LaBassee to Bethune. It is given reported the latter town is being bombarded.

Determined attacks are being directed against Aix-Le-Noulette, a village at the foot of a wooded height dominating a vast plain. It commands the road from Arras to Bethune.

Damp fogs make observations by aviators almost impossible and artillery action is very difficult.

On the Aisne the French are showing renewed activity, and are declared to be making considerable headway, notably between Soupir and Bray-En-Lannois.

French Official Report.

Paris, November 9.—The following official communication was issued by the war office at 11 o'clock tonight:

"There has been no notable modification in the situation by reason of the difficulties which an intense fog has created in connection with operations of any extent.

"In the north the day has been good. We have maintained our position between the river Lys and Langemarck and made appreciable progress between Langemarck and Dixmude."

The official announcement given out in the afternoon says that the German offensive has been renewed at Dixmude and in the region of Ypres and to the southeast of Ypres. All the German attacks have been repulsed.

The text of the communication follows:

"On our left wing the Germans have undertaken again an offensive movement on Dixmude and in the region of Ypres, particularly to the southeast of Ypres. Their attacks have been everywhere repulsed.

"At the end of the day, referring to the entire front between Dixmude and the Lys, we have made progress along the major part of the line. Nevertheless, our advance is slow on account of the offensive movements undertaken by the enemy and because of the strong organization, that he has had time to effect around his points of support. Since the beginning of the fog, favoring the fog, furthermore, has made operations difficult, particularly between the Lys and the Oise.

"On the center along the Aisne the progress set forth in the official communications of yesterday has been maintained.

"In the Argonne and in the vicinity of Verdun there have been only actions of minor importance.

"On our right wing in Lorraine there is nothing to report.

"In Alsace fresh attacks on the part of the Germans directed against the heights of Mount Sainte Marie have again resulted for them in decided check."

BERLIN CLAIMS ALLIED REPULSES.

Berlin, November 9.—(Via Amsterdam to London.)—A report issued by general headquarters this forenoon (Monday) says:

"During the evening a sortie of the enemy from Nieuport, which was repeated during the night, completely failed.

"In spite of obstinate resistance our attacks on Ypres are progressing slowly but steadily.

"The hostile counter-attacks southwest of Ypres have been repulsed and nearly hundred men taken prisoners.

"In the eastern war theater an attack by strong Russian forces north of Wyzstyter lake has been repulsed with severe Russian losses. Four thousand Russians and ten machine guns were captured."

Amsterdam, Holland, November 9.—(Via London.)—The correspondent of The Tijd at Antwerp says:

"The movement of German troops from the western theater of war, on a big scale, is now progressing. A large number appear to have withdrawn from the Yser.

"Long military trains filled with men and munitions are moving into Germany by way of Brussels and Louvain."

RUSSIANS MARCH ON GERMAN SOIL

Advance of Czar's Armies Is Said to Be Irresistible. Austrian Forces in General Retreat.

Petrograd, November 9.—(Via London.)—What is described here as a continued and irresistible offensive of the Russian army resulting in the evacuation of Poland by the Germans, is reported today as successfully establishing itself in German territory at Pleschen, 13 miles west of the Russo-German frontier.

In addition, the Germans are said to be generally relinquishing their stand along the Warthe river. This advance was accomplished, it is said, by the Russian cavalry movement in outflanking the German left.

Russian penetration of German territory to Pleschen, Prussia, northwest of Kalisz, upon which latter point the Germans appear to be withdrawing, threatens the German line of communication.

Along the South Polish frontier the Russians attacked the Austrian rear guard at Pinczow, which commands an important crossing on the upper Vistula, 25 miles from Cracow. It is asserted here that a general retreat of the Austrian forces on Cracow as a new base is now apparent.

Official Russian Report.

The following communication from the Russian general staff was issued tonight:

"On the east Prussian frontier fighting continues. The Russian troops have occupied Solap (Goldap?). In the direction of Mlawa (Poland) we have advanced and stopped the movement of the enemy's railway trains near the station of Soldau (East Prussia).

"Beyond the Vistula the Germans have withdrawn from Wloclawek to Niessuma and from Konin to Shepey (Slupce?).

"On the roads to Cracow we continue to push back the rear guards of the Austrians.

"South of Przemysl, November 7, we captured 1,000 prisoners and a number of cannon.

"On the coast of the Caucasus, November 6 and 7, cruisers of the enemy made their appearance."

MANY PRISONERS ARRIVE AT KIEV.

London, November 9.—A Reuter dispatch from Kiev, Russia, says:

"Three thousand German and Austrian prisoners, including ninety officers, together with fifty guns and several thousand rifles, captured in the recent fighting, have arrived here."

JAPAN MAY SEND ARMY TO EUROPE

Tokio, November 9.—Since the fall of the German position at Tsing-Tau the question of Japan's sending an army to Europe has begun to attract increasing attention. The idea finds considerable support in military circles, where it is believed that such a move would be welcomed by France.

GLASGOW AND OTRANTO ESCAPED GERMAN FLEET

Two British Ships Engaged in Battle Off Chile Reported Near the Falklands.

Santiago, Chile, November 9.—The British cruiser Glasgow, which was engaged with the German squadron in battle off the Chilean coast Sunday, November 1, and the British transport Otranto have passed Delgada Point light in the Straits of Magellan, bound for the Falkland islands, a British possession east of the extreme southern point of South America.

The information is contained in advices received here by the admiralty from naval authorities in the Straits of Magellan, who said they had seen the Glasgow and Otranto passing through the straits toward the Atlantic.

After the cruiser Good Hope had been sunk by the Germans and the Monmouth was so badly damaged that she appeared unable to steam away, according to the British admiralty report of the sea fight off Chile, the Glasgow accompanied her as he drifted away in the darkness. The admiralty said the Glasgow was not extensively damaged and had few casualties, although during the battle she had fought the Leipzig and the Dresden, while the Scharnhorst and Gneisenau were taking care of the two larger vessels, the Otranto, the admiralty said, was not engaged in the fight.

Delgada Point is on the west side of the north entrance on the first narrows in the Straits of Magellan.

CRUISER EMDEN SAVED BY SPEED.

London, November 9.—A Sydney, N. S. W., dispatch to The Evening News says that the skipper of the steamer Parom, arriving from Singapore, reports that after the German cruiser Emden's success in sinking the Russian and French warships at Penang, the German warship and two store ships were overtaken by a British cruiser. The speedy Emden fled, but the British man-of-war sank one store ship and captured the other.

WAR TO BE WAGED TO THE BITTER END

olas, and the remorseless speed with which Russia had carried out her movements. Here one success after another might be loked for, and as for the west the memory of the days when the French and British fought side by side against the enemy of civilization would never be forgotten.

Mr. Balfour also spoke of Servia, which was prepared to give up everything short of national existence to keep peace, and of Belgium, whose history was even more tragic. Belgium had been overrun by the Germans for no cause except expediency of war, he said. Cynicism, he added, could go no further in politics, and he denounced "the reckless and brutal militarism inflicted upon a civil population."

Belgium, he declared, would be restored to all and more of her ancient prosperity by the allies, who were bound together by the pursuit of one great object, and there was no danger of disagreement, for no mean or petty motive actuated any of them.

"We are five nations," said the former premier in conclusion, "who are fight not for ourselves alone, but for civilisation and for all small states who seek to follow their own ideals without interference from any unauthorized and lawless aggressor."

Churchill Speaks for Navy.

Replying to a toast to the navy, Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, said:

"The navy has always had the greatest battle in the world is going on. Our countrymen, with our allies, are striving to break the cruel tide of German devastation and here we sit, in the old hall, as we have done before. That is due to the navy.

"While we do not shrink from the full rigors of the war, which is highly probable that never before in the history of the state have the feet of dancers kept time to music in its halls. The stately minuet, or, at best, the more modern "Virginia reel," would be more seemly for the time-honored marble slabs of the building in which laws are made and destiny of the "Empire State" of the south have been formed.

But when the fourth annual meeting of the American Road Congress comes to Atlanta it is an event of epochal significance. Wherefore, it is not at all surprising that epochal events should now take place in the building from which the fate of the state has been guided since time when the mind of man runneth not to the contrary.

All this is to prepare the reader for the shock of a lifetime. If you are ready to meet the announcement of the week of a nation which your forefathers fought to build, here goes!

All the Latest Dances.

On the marble slabs of the floor of the state capitol of Georgia the turkey trot, the hesitation, the fox trot and all the latest machinations of the modern dance factories were exemplified there last night.

To get right down to terra firma, a reception was held at the state capitol building last night in honor of the fourth annual meeting of the American Road Congress, Governor and Mrs. Slaton being the host and hostess of the occasion.

Two thousand delegates to the congress, and the good people of Atlanta, attended the reception.

Those who turned out on the good people who formed the reception line—for their duty was pre-eminently a part of the program—the event of the evening happened after the guests had had a few drinks of Jack Letton's punch.

About the time the punch line was well under way the orchestra struck up "It's a Long Way to Tipperary," and the game of formality was over. Fred Houser led, and everybody joined in the chorus.

It so happened that the next selection after "Tipperary" was a one-step.

That's about all of this story.

In fact, it would be all of this story, except for the fact that there is a primary rule in the newspaper business, and that rule is "get names."

The names of the reception committee are as follows:

CRONJE'S COMMAND DEFEATED BY REBELS

Son of Rebel General De Wet Killed—Forces of the Rebel Gen. Beyers Dispersed.

London, November 10.—(2:29 a. m.) "General Christian De Wet, the rebel leader," says Reuter's Pretoria correspondent, "has been in contact with and dispersed a small government command under General Cronje, a member of the legislature, near Dronberg. In the course of the fighting General De Wet's son Daniel was killed.

"The government is sending strong reinforcements to Cronje."

Reuter's Capetown correspondent, under date of Monday, gives the following official communication concerning the fighting in South Africa:

"An engagement between General Lammer's forces and Transvaal rebels, under General Christian Beyers, occurred on the Vet river, southeast of Bloemhof, November 8.

"The rebels, well armed and led by Beyers, were entirely dispersed, losing nine men killed, eleven men wounded, 364 prisoners, 300 rifles and 300 horses.

"The loyalists' casualties were three men killed and nine wounded."

HOW TO SUCCEED

During the last few years, conditions in all lines of business, even professional life, have changed so completely that every man is waking up to the fact that in order to win success he must specialize and learn to do some one thing and do it well.

So it is with any article that is sold to the people. It must have genuine merit or no amount of advertising will maintain the demand for the article.

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy. From the very beginning of its introduction had so much confidence in it that they invited every one to test it.

It is a physician's prescription. They have on file thousands of unsolicited letters received from former sufferers who tell how they are now enjoying good health as a result of its use.

However, if you wish first to try a sample bottle, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., enclose ten cents and mention this paper. They will promptly forward you a sample bottle by Parcel Post.

Regular sizes for sale at all druggists—fifty cents and one dollar.

Premier Asquith Speaks.

Premier Asquith said that never had any government more needed the whole-hearted confidence of the community than during the hundred days since the outbreak of the war and never had confidence been more ungrudgingly expressed. Briefly, he continued:

"This was the seventh year he had been privileged to speak at the Guildhall Sanquet. During that time the world had undergone many strange vicissitudes. It was not inappropriate that he should look back to 1908 and recall the European situation.

"First, there was the formal annexation of Bosnia. On that occasion an advantage was taken of the unprepardness of Russia to ride roughshod over a smaller power with the connivance of another great power. Secondly, there was the sudden emergence in the Ottoman empire of the party of the 'Young Turks.' After six years he had to admit that the Young Turks had reproduced the vices without the vigor or versatility of the old regime.

"The Turkish government had been tempted by Germany to commit a series of acts which, on land and sea, compelled to recognize Turkey as an open enemy. It was the Turkish government and not the people who had drawn the sword, and they would perish by the sword.

England had no quarrel with Mussulman subjects of Turkey, and nothing was farther from England's thoughts than to initiate or encourage a crusade against their faith. England, in fact, was prepared if necessary to defend their holy places against all attacks. The Turkish empire, however, had dug its grave and committed suicide.

"There will be a long war," said the prime minister, "but there is nothing in a long struggle to depress us, nor in what has happened. Our enemy has tried three objectives—Paris, Warsaw and Calais—and has been baffled in all. That is not enough. We shall not sheath the sword which we have not lightly drawn until Belgium has recovered more than she has sacrificed; until France is adequately secured against menace; until the rights of the smaller nationalities have been placed on unassailable foundation and until the military domination of Prussia is finally destroyed.

"This is a great task worthy of a great nation. It needs for its accomplishment that every man amongst us, old and young, shall give what he has and do what he can."

Allies to Win, Says Kitchener.

Confidence in the ultimate success of the allied arms was expressed by Earl Kitchener, who pointed out the great issue at stake, the advantages possessed by the allies in men and material and in "that wonderful spirit which never has understood the meaning of defeat."

Lord Kitchener praised the territorials, particularly the London Scottish and the East Indians; spoke of the admiration of the British troops for "the glorious French army," and said:

"Under the direction of General Joffre, who is not only a great military leader, but a wise man, we may confidently rely on the ultimate success of the allied forces on the western theater of the war."

He passed to the brilliant leadership of Grand Duke Nicholas and also "the splendid deeds of the gallant Belgian army" and the gallantry of the Japanese forces. Continuing, Lord Kitchener said:

"The British empire is fighting for its existence. I want every citizen to understand this cardinal fact, for only from a clear conception of the vast importance of the issue at stake can come the great national moral impulse without which the government war ministers, or even their navies can do but little.

"We have enormous advantages in our resources of men and material and in that wonderful spirit of ours which never has understood the meaning of defeat. All these are great assets, but they must be used judiciously and effectively.

More Men Will Be Wanted.

"I have no complaint to make whatever about the response to my appeals for men. The progress in the military training of those who already have enlisted is remarkable and the country well may be proud of them, but I shall want more men and still more until the enemy is crushed.

"Armies cannot be called together as with the magician's wand, and in the process of formation there may have been discomforts and inconveniences in some cases—even downright suffering. I cannot examine that these conditions will cease wholly, but I can give you the assurance that they have already greatly diminished and everything that administrative energy can do to bring them to an end assuredly will be done.

"The men who have come forward must remember that sacrifice and suffering for their country's sake just as their comrades are in the anti-torn trenches. The introduction of elaborate destructive machinery with which our enemies had so amply and carefully supplied themselves has been the subject of much eulogy on the part of military critics, but it must be remembered that in the matter of preparation those who fix beforehand the date of a war have a considerable advantage over their neighbors.

"So far as we are concerned we clearly are open to no similar suspicion. This development of armaments had modified the application of old principles of strategy and tactics and had forced the present warfare to something approximating siege operations.

"Our losses in the trenches have been severe, but such casualties are far from deterring the British nation from seeing the matter through. They will act rather as an incentive to British manhood to prepare themselves to take the places of those who have fallen."

Tribute to British Army.

Paying a tribute to the leadership of Sir John French, commander of the British expeditionary force, and his generals, and to the high efficiency and courage of the army, the war minister said:

"I think that it has been conceded that the British army has proved itself to be as effective a possible an engine of war as some were disposed to consider it. He concluded:

"Although our thoughts are constantly directed toward the troops at the front and the great tasks they have in hand, it is well to remember that the enemy will have to reckon with the forces of the great dominion, the vanguard of which already have so welcomed in this country, in the very fine body of men forming the contingents from Canada and New Foundland, while from Australia and New Zealand and other parts are coming in quick succession soldiers to fight for the imperial cause. And besides all these, there are training in this country more than 1,250,000 men eagerly waiting for a call to bear their part in the great struggle.

"As each soldier takes his place in the field he will stand forward to do his duty, and in doing that duty will maintain the credit of the British army, which I submit never has stood higher than it does today."

UNITED STATES BARS CATTLE FROM CANADA

Washington, November 9.—Colder weather, with rain, was hailed by department of agricultural officials today as a powerful ally in their campaign to stress the rapidly spreading live stock foot and mouth disease epidemic. Encouraging reports came from some sections, but news of more affected districts caused the department to extend the federal quarantine to include Delaware, New Jersey and Rhode Island, and to bar cattle shipments from Canada. Thirteen states are under quarantine.

While no cases of the disease have been found in Canada, the quarantine is to prevent the return of infected cattle cars to the United States. It will stop shipments of cattle into the United States at approximately $3,000,000 a year.

The effect of the Canadian quarantine on the meat situation cannot be estimated immediately, according to department officials. It will depend on whether Canadian imports have been for immediate slaughter or fattening purposes.

Upon the receipt of reports today from field agents in Indiana and Michigan, officials expressed the hope that the disease in these states had been brought under control. Reports from Pennsylvania indicated that the disease had spread.

The department of agriculture ordered an inspector to Como, Miss., to make a further investigation into a suspicious case of foot and mouth disease there. A preliminary inquiry indicated that the case was not an infection of that kind, but the department was not satisfied with that conclusion.

Fighting Disease at Chicago.

Chicago, November 9.—Control of foot and mouth disease at the Chicago Union stock yards, which was placed under quarantine last Saturday, today has been brought about according to federal and state authorities.

With the exception of seventy-five cases among 800 prize dairy cattle quarantined in the isolation hospital, there is not a trace of the disease within the yards. The cases among the prize cattle, it is said, were mild.

For the first time since the organization of the yards not a living cow, steer, hog or sheep was in the inclosure today. The last infected animal was shot to death and buried in quick lime yesterday. In all 7,042 animals, valued at $56,000, have been slain since the quarantine was ordered.

Scrubbing of the miles of pens, alleys, streets and runways with a solution of disinfectant continued today

Waterways Congress.

Washington, November 9.—Senator Ransdell today named December 9, 10 and 11 as dates for the annual meeting of the National Rivers and Harbors congress in Washington. President Wilson has been invited to make the opening address.

Revised Downward—the Prices of Sheets and Pillow Cases

Temporary and, Therefore, More Urgent Reductions on Standard Brands of Sheets and Pillow Cases

A day for the housekeeper!

The Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co. regular prices on standard brands of sheets and pillow cases are the minimum prices at which these brands can be sold.

This we have proved time and again.

So, when reductions are made on these prices they represent actual savings. Small, you say—yes, when taken separately, but collectively, great. And it is the part of good housekeeping to save on such things as these, and when the opportunity presents itself.

We have an idea that many will supply themselves against the months to come.

Mrs. Inman's House Party.

Mrs. Hugh Inman's unique house party, the six charming nieces who are her guests for November, will entertain their first guests outside the family on Thursday evening at dinner. Miss Adrienne Battey and Miss Sarah Bell, of Atlanta; Miss Helen Johnson and Miss Louise Van Dyke, of Chattanooga; Miss Ann Vason Hall and Miss Elizabeth Cleag, of Memphis, form the party. Mrs. Inman's granddaughter, Miss Margaret Grant, who was one of the group last week, has gone to New York.

Mrs. Inman's entertainment is not of the usual house party type, but she is making the month as profitable for her young kinswomen as she is making it happy. Mingled with their good times is instruction and practice in domestic science and economy. Cooking, housework and sewing are being taught, and this includes the more ornamental phases, like the making of new table decorations, with every encouragement to the individuality of each pupil.

They have made their own house gowns of cotton material in shepherd's plaid, and the new gowns are as becoming as they are practical.

"Boarding school rules" are in effect in early hours, but every member of the house party is enthusiastic over the fullness of the day's novelty and pleasure.

For Thursday evening six gentlemen will be invited to dine and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Richardson will chaperone the party.

Art Salon Opens.

Monday, the opening day of the art exhibit which is being held at the Ponce de Leon under the auspices of the Atlanta Art association, revealed to a large attendance a display of local work which is varied, complete and wonderfully interesting. Atlanta's resources, in the way of exceptional artistic ability, are for the first time proved in concrete form, and a fine showing of craftsmanship is a supplementary feature full of value.

Besides professional work of high standard, there are amateur instances of amazing excellence, as, for instance, the water colors by Miss Isoline Campbell, whose brilliant charm, making her the center just now of a debutante whirl of gayety, is only one of her gifts. For her foreign scenes, Amalfi, Nice and other picturesque haunts of the artist in Europe give her representation in the Atlanta salon. Her studies in Paris were with the celebrated Maurice Chabas, and her work shows that her talent has been well directed.

The salon will continue through the week and will provide genuine artistic interest and food for study.

Atlanta Women at Good Roads Congress.

The meeting this morning of the Woman's auxiliary to the Good Roads congress at Ansley hotel will hold particular interest for all Atlanta women, partly because of what good roads mean to women and partly because Atlanta and Georgia women have been signally honored in their places on the program.

Mrs. Shepard W. Foster, ex-state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, will preside. Mrs. Foster was succeeded by Miss Elizabeth Butler Gentry, of Kansas City, to speak in the place of Miss Gentry, national chairman for the Daughters of the American Revolution movement, which inspired and is urging the passage of the bill now before congress to establish an ocean-to-ocean highway the national old trails road.

Mrs. Foster will explain the movement and urge the co-operation of the auxiliary, and through them of the National Road congress.

Mrs. Nellie Peters Black will provide a valuable feature of the meeting in her address on the relation of good roads to child welfare.

Mrs. Charles J. Haden will speak on the "Social Side of the Highway," and Mrs. John Slaton Wolf will make the address of welcome.

Dinner Party.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Little entertained at dinner Sunday evening at home, the occasion a beautiful one in compliment to Miss Katherine Ellis and Mr. Ernest Miller, bride-elect.

The table decorations were in yellow, the centerpiece of chrysanthemums.

In the party were Misses Ellis, Smith, Leone Ladson, Passie May Ottley, Helen Cargas, Messrs. Brooks Morgan, Daniel McDougald, Joseph Brown Connally, James Alexander and Dozier Lowndes.

To Miss MacGregor.

In compliment to Miss Isoline Campbell and her guest, Miss Jean MacGregor, of Missouri, Mr. Cator Woolford will entertain at the informal dinner-dance tonight at the Capital City club.

Miss Josephine Mobley will give a luncheon next Tuesday for Miss MacGregor.

To Debutantes.

Miss Passie May Ottley will entertain at bridge Friday afternoon at home in compliment to Miss Frances Godfrey and Miss Bertha Moore.

Reception to Students.

An interesting event of last week was the reception given by the Young Men's Christian association to the students of the Atlanta Dental college, Southern Dental college, and the Atlanta Medical college.

The ushers for the occasion were chosen from the three colleges, consisting of Messrs. E. L. Edwards, E. R. Warren, Stevens, Patterson, Earl Stewart, Ona Hester, L. W. Collins, J. H. Hughes and J. M. Gilbert, from the S. D. C.; Messrs. R. T. Rucks, S. W. Horn, A. Sanders, R. H. Stanton, R. D. Hughes, from the A. M. C., and Messrs. F. M. York, J. H. Simmons, B. Todd, H. Campbell, S. Kaufman, and G. A. Mitchell, from the S. D. C.

After the interesting program, consisting of several readings by Misses Annie Mae Brooks and Pearl Edwards, solos by Mr. Hubbard, and a piano solo by Miss Ethel Berry, and a selection by the orchestra, the young men were given an opportunity of inspecting the splendid new Y. M. C. A. building now just completed.

Later in the evening light refreshments were served by Miss Annie Mae Brooks, Miss C. E. Willis and Miss Nell Jackson. An orchestra, composed mostly of students, played the assorted music during the evening.

Spend-the-Day Party.

Mrs. Edward Alsop entertained a few friends at a spend-the-day party yesterday at her home on Peter's Ferry road for Miss Isoline Campbell and her guest, Miss MacGregor. Quite a pretty white chrysanthemums filling a silver basket was the centerpiece of the table, and other pretty details were in yellow and white.

Afternoon Bridge Party.

Miss Marie Bennett entertained twenty guests at bridge yesterday afternoon at her home on North Boulevard for Miss Lucile Jackson, of Montgomery, who is being delightfully entertained as the guest of Miss Irene Burnett, and for Mrs. R. L. Winnett, a recent bride.

White and yellow chrysanthemums formed artistic decorations through the apartments. The prizes were silk stockings and crepe de chine handkerchiefs.

To Flower Mission Superintendents.

As the National Woman's Christian Temperance union convenes in this city Thursday night, November 12, it is very necessary that all the chrysanthemums which have been promised be sent so as to be here by Friday afternoon or night of the 13th. Those attending the convention can bring them. Those who send them address to State Superintendent at the Baptist Tabernacle. It is asked that each stem be carefully wrapped in damp cotton, placing stems and blossoms alternately.

To Miss Godfrey.

Miss Passie May Ottley will entertain at luncheon Thursday at home in compliment to Miss Frances Godfrey, of Covington, the guest of Mrs. W. T. Elder.

Dinner-Dance.

The regular dinner-dance will be a bright occasion of this evening at the Capital City club.

Atlanta Chapter, D. A. R.

Members of Atlanta chapter are asked to attend the meeting of the Good Roads congress at Ansley hotel this Tuesday morning, in recognition of the compliment paid a member of the chapter, Mrs. R. W. Patterson, the place assigned her on the program.

Miss Norris to Entertain.

Miss Marie Norris will entertain at tea this afternoon at the Druid Hills Golf club for Miss Adline Perryman, a bride-elect and for Miss Lucile Jackson, of Montgomery, the guest of Miss Irene Bennett.

For Miss Perryman.

Mrs. Charles Chapman will have a miscellaneous shower Saturday afternoon at her home for Miss Adline Perryman, a bride-elect, and Miss Frances Woman's auxiliary, Atlanta Chapter, D. A. R. Webb, professor Louisville Theological seminary.

Holland-Cooke.

Mrs. N. L. Holland announces the marriage of her daughter, Janie Beatrice, to Mr. Charles Cooke, Mc-Donough, Ga., the wedding having taken place at All Saints' church on November 4. The Rev. W. W. Memminger performed the ceremony.

Silver Tea.

The ladies of the Altar Society of Ansley hotel, the Friars will dine together, Rev. L. O. Bricker, pastor First Christian church, being host, with Rev. Frank R. Shipman, professor of the Bible in Emory college, Oxford, as guest. An honored guest of the hour will

The Friars Meet Again.

This evening in the changing room, Ansley hotel, the Friars will dine together, Rev. L. O. Bricker, pastor First Christian church, being host, with Rev. Frank R. Shipman, professor of the Bible in Emory college, Oxford, as guest. An honored guest of the hour will Psychological Lecture.

The last lecture in a series of ten on the eclectic philosophy will be given this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the Ansley hotel, by Dr. Stanley Krebs. The subject is "The Law of Harmonics," and will be given by Mrs. Rose M. Ashby, president of the Atlanta Psychological society. All interested are cordially invited.

Invitations Recalled.

Dr. and Mrs. Aristides Reynolds, of Marietta, Ga., recall the invitations for the wedding reception of their daughter, Elizabeth, and Mr. James O. Harris, Thursday, November 12, on account of bereavement in the family.

Cooking School.

The following menu will be given this morning at the cooking school being conducted by Mrs. Rose at First Presbyterian church on Marietta street:

Menu—Good hash, broiled steak, stuffed peppers, graham biscuits, Georgian Terrace Dinner-Dance.

Among the residents of the Georgian Terrace who will entertain at the opening dinner-dance Friday evening will be Mrs. Mc-McCerred, whose guests will be the Dargan-Lowndes bridal party; Dr. J. E. Willis, who will entertain a group of the debutante set for Miss Isoline Campbell and her guest, Miss MacGregor, of Missouri; Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Stokesbary, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Atchison, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wessels, Mrs. M. P. Coolidge, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Comer, Mr. and Mrs. T. Crass, Mr. G. B. Pendleton, Mr. and Mrs. L. Eiseman, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wellhouse, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Johnson of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Meyer Alsop, Mrs. S. K. Dick, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Pointer.

Miss Moulton and Mr. Darnell, celebrated professional dancers from Chicago, will arrive in time to give a demonstration. Dinner will be served at tables encircling the rose dining room, and the compartments and general dancing will be between courses.

Danse Club Opening.

The formal opening of the "Danse Club," the new castle house which is to be conducted by Mrs. Clayle Forbush, will be an unique social event of this afternoon from 3 to 7 o'clock.

The interior of the English house, at Peachtree and Kimball streets, the home of the Danse club, has been attractively retouched for the opening, and will make handsome setting for the dancing and the tea parties. Many reservations promise an auspicious and brilliant beginning of the club life.

Mrs. Atlee to Entertain.

Mrs. Frank Atlee will entertain at tea Wednesday afternoon at her home on Rumbill street, for her mother, Mrs. Frank Moses, of Knoxville.

Tea at Terrace.

A tea at the Georgian Terrace in honor of the women's conference will be the social event of Tuesday afternoon at the road congress. On that occasion Mrs. Slaton will be assisted in receiving by Mrs. Abbie Scott Baxter, Mrs. Mell R. Wilkinson, Mrs. Ben Houser, Mrs. Wilmer Moore, Mrs. W. T. Winn, Mrs. William Lawson Peel and Mrs. Frederic J. Paxon.

War Relief Committee Works While It Plans

One hundred busy women, knitting, cutting, sewing, crocheting, while they conducted a business meeting, its needs pecuniary, formed a unique picture yesterday morning at the home of Mrs. Richard W. Johnston, on Peachtree street.

The war relief committee, organized last week, was holding its second regular meeting. Mrs. Porter King, the chairman, presiding, and a tremendous amount of actual garment-making was done, while ways and means were being devised for the furtherance of the work, and the enlistment of still more Atlanta women than those already engaged in providing comforts for the soldiers of Europe at war.

A mass meeting of Atlanta men and women is to be called for next Sunday afternoon at some central place to secure for the committee's work universal co-operation, but in the meantime two hundred and fifty outing shirts were given out at the meeting yesterday to be made in neighborhood sewing parties, and the woolen mufflers, wristlets, stockings and scarfs which are needed being worked on in similar great numbers.

From fifty to a hundred were taken by individual members of the committee to be made in neighborhood gatherings, and one Atlanta manufacturer sent his offer to make many dozen socks in the intervals of his own orders, substituting woolen needles on his machines for cotton.

Bolts of goods have been contributed to the committee, and they urge all Atlanta women to aid in the work, any amount of woolen thread and needles being of the distribution to those who do not care to provide their own materials. Applications may be phoned to Mrs. Joseph N. Moody, Mrs. P. J. McGovern or Mrs. W. W. Thomas.

Mrs. Frank Pearson, Mrs. T. S. Lanier and Mrs. Behanna announce that they will teach any applicant how to make the "Lord Kitchener muffler," which is the most approved, and Mrs. Pearson volunteers to go to the homes of any group of ladies who wish to learn.

The next meeting will be at 10 o'clock next Tuesday morning and all meetings until the close of the war will be held with Mrs. Porter King.

A benefit dance will be given at Segallo's Thursday evening, the 19th, under the direction of Miss Viola Moseley, for the relief work. Miss Eva Wurm's kindergarten will contribute one-half of their annual Thanksgiving box, and sums of money have been contributed.

Mrs. Hugh Willet was appointed to enlist the co-operation of the Elks, the Masons and the Shriners.

FOSSILIZED TAIL OF 'POSSUM FOUND BY JUDGE MADDOX

Dalton, Ga., November 9.—(Special.) That Whitfield county is either near the place where the Ark landed, or is the Garden of Eden for the opossum family there remains no doubt, which fact was today corroborated by the find of Judge Samuel P. Maddox, the efficient solicitor general of the Chero-kee circuit. While on his farm, just west of Dalton, this morning, Judge Maddox noticed a peculiarly shaped rock, and upon close examination was amazed to find a 'possum tail, clearly defined, petrified in the rock.

Not being thoroughly satisfied, Judge Maddox exhibited the find to several old antebellum negroes, who, with one accord, pronounced it the fossilized rheumatic tail of their early days of superstitious ignorance, and entreated the finder to donate it to them to be dedicated to their patron saint.

Just how this particular non-Australian marsupial became separated from his tail will likely forever remain one of the great unsolved mysteries, as it unmistakably belongs to the prehistoric period, but was of such absorbing interest to the animal of antiquity that even the tail was not spared.

Mr. Maddox prizes his find very highly, and expresses his intention of donating the curio to the Smithsonian institution, although his colored friends are besieging him to allow it to remain in Georgia.

FULTON GETS BUT SMALL SHARE OF AUTO TAX

Because of the rural mileage system, Fulton county will be deprived of a surprising amount of the automobile tax that is returned from the state treasury. Fulton has the largest number of automobiles of any county in the state, but will pay back a tax of $20,000. The revenue to go to the county, however, will be only $452.78.

Carroll county, which has the most rural road mileage, will get the biggest return, $1,179.44. Next is Bibb county, paying tax of only $895. Cobb county, which adjoins Fulton, comes next.

Carroll county has 466 miles of rural road, while Fulton county has 178, though, has only 201.

The twelve big counties of the state and the amount paid in by them along with the share they receive back:

Chatham paid in $4,818, and will draw $177. Fulton paid in $3,776, and will draw $469.82.

Richmond paid in $3,385, and will draw $1,179.

LA FOLLETTE TO SPEAK ON THE EUROPEAN WAR

United States Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, one of the leading republican nominees in the next presidential election, will speak on the war in the Auditorium Wednesday, November 18, on the European war and the government's relation to it, and the duties of the United States.

In this lecture, which will be the third number of the Alkahest Lyceum course, he will express political opinions that will be of national importance. Few persons visiting Atlanta this winter will be more significant.

Senator La Follette has spoken hundreds of times on phases of government and politics, but never has his topic been so pertinent as his discussion of the European war and its influence in America.

BABY SHOW PROMISES TO BE GREAT SUCCESS

Twenty Little Ones Already Enrolled, and More Coming in Every Day.

Indications are that the "better baby" show and exhibit which will be held under the auspices of the Georgia branch of the National Mothers' Congress, will bring out Atlanta's finest children.

Thursday will be the opening day of the show, which will be held during the W. C. T. U. convention at the Baptist Tabernacle. Mrs. James Savitz, president of the Forrest Avenue Parent-Teachers' association, will be in charge. She has enrolled twenty babies and expects to bring in many more before the opening day at the show.

Next the show is going to be a success is assured by the fact that the officers of the association with the assistance of local physicians and women's clubs, are co-operating. Mrs. Howard Payne is state chairman and Mrs. John W. Rowlett is local chairman of the committee. Each committee is being assisted by presidents of parent clubs in the city. Each president enters babies of her district and gives the entries in to the central committee.

The show has been indorsed by physicians and nurses of the city, who are also lending their aid and co-operating with the association. Dr. Stephen Barrett, president of the Fulton County Medical Association, is chairman of the physicians' committee, and Dr. J. P. Kennedy, city health officer, is assisting. The committee is also being assisted by a corps of physicians who have taken an active interest in the show. Members of the Fulton County Medical Association will act as judges. Six bronze medals will be awarded to the best developed babies.

HEAD OF U. D. C. ARRIVES.

Daughters of the Confederacy Open Convention Tomorrow.

Savannah, Ga., November 9.—Mrs. Daisy McLaurin Stevens, of Brandon, Miss., president general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, arrived here to attend the general annual convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, beginning Wednesday morning.

The delegations from California and other western states also arrived during the day. There was a meeting of the credentials committee this morning.

The Savannah daughters have completed arrangements for the reception of the visitors.

MOOREFIELD IS CHARGED WITH "BLUE SKY" FRAUD

Accused of conducting wholesale swindles in Opelika, Ala., D. E. Moorefield, an Atlanta man, who lived on Capitol avenue, was arrested Saturday by officers from Sheriff Mangum's office. Extradition papers had been issued from Governor Slaton when the prisoner waived the usual course proceedings.

The hearing was given before Judge Ben Hill. The habeas corpus was denied, and attorneys for Moorefield were planning to carry the case into the supreme court, when detectives rushed to headquarters and rearrested him on warrants charging swindling in Washington and Cornelsboro, Ga.

Deciding that it was best to face the Alabama charges instead of the warrants from south Georgia, Moorefield waived the supreme court appeal and permitted officers from Opelika to return him at this time. It is thought that he systematically swindled business people of Opelika and the Georgia town paid hundreds through a "blue sky" promotion scheme.

OVER BUSHEL OF CASH FOR WAR SUFFERERS

Cambridge, Mass., November 9.—A bushel and a half of money was collected by the Red Cross for the benefit of European war sufferers between the halves of the Harvard-Princeton football game Saturday. The count, which was not completed until today, showed a total of $3,883, including one $20 bill and 2,350 pennies.

Swift & Company's sales of Beef in Atlanta for the week ending Saturday, November 7, averaged 9.43 cents per pound.—(adv.)

WOMAN WOULD NOT GIVE UP

Though Sick and Suffering; At Last Found Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Richmond, Pa. — "When I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was in a dreadfully run down state of health, had internal troubles, and was so extremely nervous and prostrated that if I had given in to my feelings I would have been in bed. As it was I had hardly strength at times to be on my feet and what I did do was by a great effort. I could not sleep at night and of course felt very bad in the morning, and had a steady headache.

"After taking the second bottle I noticed that the headache was not so bad. I rested better, and my nerves were stronger. I continued its use until it made a new woman of me, and now I can hardly realize that I am able to do so much as I do. Whenever I know any woman in need of a good medicine I highly praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Frank Clark, 3146 N. Tulip St., Richmond, Pa.

Women Have Been Telling Women for forty years how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored their health when suffering with female ills. This accounts for the enormous demand for it from coast to coast. If you are troubled with any ailment peculiar to women why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? It will pay you to do so. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person is troubled with catarrh in some form.

Science has shown that nasal catarrh indicates a weakened condition of the body; that the secretion of the mucous membranes are quickly affected, and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building-tonic, free from alcohol or any harmful drugs. Try it.

31 SOUTH BROAD STREET ATLANTA, GEORGIA

PRIZES ARE AWARDED FOR CATTLE AND SWINE

Farmers' Day at the State Fair Is Marked by Large Attendance.

Macon, Ga., November 9.—(Special.) Today was Farmers' day at the Georgia state fair, and the crowd was an unusually good one for Monday, especially since the weather was not all that could have been desired. Tomorrow is "Ford day," and owners of that particular make of automobile have arranged to drive their cars to Macon from every direction, participating in a street parade after their arrival.

Prizes are to be awarded for the town sending the most cars and the car coming the greatest distance. All of these visiting automobilists are to be admitted free to the grounds after their arrival.

Thursday Governor Slaton and his staff will be the guests of the fair association.

The awards were made today in the cattle, swine and sheep departments.

In the swine department the winners included: Tamworths, Dutch Fork Truck Farm, Columbia, S. C.; Oemulgee Farm, Macon; Dyroc-Jersey, Fairview Farm, Cochran; R. B. Martin, Waldeck, W. Va. Berkshires, O. T. Templeton, Blythe; W. D. Scott, Arlington; Robert Jackson, Madison; Fred Howell, Valdosta; Anderson Farms, Marietta.

TAKE THE BEGGING SIGNS FROM THE NATION'S DOORS!

A few days ago The Constitution received among its exchanges a Boston newspaper with a first-page, three-column cartoon representing King Cotton as an arrant beggar. His royal raiment was in tatters, and his crown, inverted and outstretched, was thrust at the passers-by while its holder abjectly whined for alms.

This is a fair sample of how the northern newspapers are treating conditions in the south.

Nor can the Boston paper, nor any other paper, be blamed for this misrepresentation of the situation.

From the moment the European war demoralized the cotton market, a howl for help was started in the south, and it did not take it long to assume the tone of a charity wail. No wonder the whole country believed that the south, and the south's cotton, was an applicant for charity!

The trouble is, the thing has been overplayed!

A day or two ago a well-known Atlantan returned from New York. In a big hotel there he found, in the lobby, the familiar cotton bale, with "We've bought our bale of cotton. Have you bought yours?" And over the desk was the announcement that cotton warehouse receipts would be accepted for bills. The Atlantan asked if anyone had taken advantage of that offer. In spite of the fact that it had been up a month, not one southerner had settled his bill in cotton receipts. The Atlanta man suggested that the cotton be sold, and applied to charitable proceeds, and the sign forthwith taken down.

We agree with him!

It's high time to take down the signs of southern beggary that hang on the doors of the nation!

How much this campaign of well-meant, but humiliating, impulse has cost the south would be difficult to estimate.

Right now every business man who must do business with the north is penalized by the deep-sunken belief that the southern people are in as bad a fix as the poor Belgians.

How much capital is, temporarily at least, lost to the section cannot be told.

Jobbers will not hunt business here, because they believe our own intimations to the effect that we can't pay our bills.

Every southern newspaper has paid incalculable toll in loss of advertisements away from home since advertisers reason that if there is no money in the south there is no sense in advertising.

The southern and local advertiser know differently, being on the ground. They know the idea of the south's being "hanged, drawn and quartered" financially is grotesque. Hence they are advertising as usual. They have not been frightened away. But that does not help outside of this section, where people have judged us by our own estimates.

If, with the outbreak of the war, we had devoted one-tenth of the energy to readjusting our troubles as to creating the impression that we were candidates for the poorhouse, this condition would not have been brought about—and things would have been running, by now, on practically a normal basis.

Some years ago some well-meaning Georgians sent a certain eloquent Major Stewart to the north to solicit contributions for a Georgia soldier's home for confederate veterans. The biting paradox of the thing stung the spirit of Henry Grady. He wrote just one editorial, "Come Home, Major Stewart, Come Home," hammering with the force of a sledge the shame of the southern people asking outsiders for contributions to a home for their gray heroes. And Georgia built the home.

And we can care for our own as well now as we did then.

But first it's time to take the south's sign of distress from the nation's door—to bring this new Major Stewart home and to let the world know that we are standing on our own bottom, and that we are going to get through this thing with flying colors.

MARKET AND OLIGARCHY.

Communications published today from Benjamin W. Hunt, ex-president of the Georgia State Bankers' association, and W. D. Nelson, of Columbia county, open an interesting vista of speculation regarding the part played by the all-cotton fetich in choking out a market for other products.

Mr. Hunt, who is an authority, says that neither he nor his neighbors can find a market for thoroughbred hogs and cattle. He believes this is due almost wholly to lack of co-operation between farmers, and points to what European countries have accomplished through this agency.

Mr. Nelson has other ideas, and they are reminiscent of the remarkable article published in The Constitution some weeks ago by J. T. Holleman, and charging a cotton oligarchy. Mr. Nelson says he cannot sell hay to his neighbor, because the latter buys from the merchant on credit; he cannot sell to the merchant, because the latter buys on 30, 60 and 90 days' time and so on in a vicious circle.

There can be no question whatever that there is, as Mr. Hunt says, an almost total absence of co-operation among southern farmers. It is true also that the southern farmer lives to a great extent on credit.

It is as certain as anything can be that the south's present agricultural system can not much longer endure. It is rotten to the core economically, and financially it is a first aid to bankruptcy and stunted development. The idea of living wholly on one crop is, as Mr. Hunt says, simple speculation, as wild and inexcusable as gambling in Wall street. And the system, as pointed by Mr. Nelson, that embarrasses the creation of home markets by placing a premium upon the purchase of foreign products is fundamentally wrong.

A Providential opportunity is offered in the breathing spell represented by the European war to correct this costly and disastrous system. We must encourage the raising of home supplies. We must encourage the creation of markets for them. The constructive thought of the south can engage in no work more profitable or patriotic.

WHOSE OX IS GORED.

The extreme bitterness exhibited by Germany over the fall of its Far Eastern possession at Tsing-Tau is, under the circumstances, perfectly natural. Just at present the allies seem to be enjoying their innings all along the line, in the eastern as well as the western theaters. At the same time, while there have been sporadic revolts among British and French dependencies, nothing like the dissensions upon which Germany counted have materialized. Of course, the fortunes of war may turn tomorrow, and the kaiser may find something to assuage his disappointment. But right now the victory of the Japanese and English at Tsing-Tau may be described as a part of that delectable process familiarly known as "rubbing it in."

How Germany euchred Japan out of the fruits of her victory over China and thwarted her in her every effort at Far Eastern expansion is history that recurs readily.

Now that the tables are turned, Germany does not find the dose palatable, and breathes threats of what is going to happen to England and Japan as soon as the kaiser's energies are released in Europe.

We who occupy an aloof position and who see history in the making can be a little more philosophical. The sentiment, "He who takes up the sword shall perish by the sword," is as pertinent as the day it was written. The exasperated Germans seem in danger of forgetting the logic of the phrase and its justice.

ABSINTHE AND VODKA.

One of the very few compensating features of the European war may develop to be the permanent prohibition of absinthe in France and vodka in Russia. At the outbreak of hostilities both of these governments at once issued absolute interdicts against these respective interdicts. The policy was the more notable on part of Russia, since with that country vodka is a governmental monopoly and supplies a large part of the government revenues.

The Constitution has several times commented on the fact that wherever temperance has won substantially or permanently in this country, the motive has been economic and not sentimental. It has been in this spirit that mills and corporations generally have raised an embargo against the worker who drinks. They have increasingly given him his choice between "the drink or the job."

Now the interdict has extended to war. The last place on earth they want a drinking man or a drunkard is the firing line. The man whose judgment is warped or whose courage is buoyed by alcohol is not a dependable soldier. There is no place for him in modern warfare.

If it takes the blasting desolation of war in the old world to promote temperance, there will be at least a qualified benefit laid up to the charge of Mars.

"Poor Old Soul"

I.

He has to hug the fire
When the winter-wind blows cold,—
Poor ole soul!
How he hates to hear it
With its rumble an' its roll,—
Poor ole soul!

For it allus seems to say:
"Old man, you've had yer day;
Too long—too long you stay . . .
Poor ole soul!"

II.

For the Wind ain't got no wisdom, an' its voice it can't control,—
Poor ole soul!
But we'd give our chance for HIS chance, with his years clean an' whole,—
Rich ole soul!

For he hears, from far away,
God's Faithful angels say:
"Come Home! Too long you stay:
Come Home, brave soul!"

The Rival Candidates.

This campaign story which The Kansas City Star says was told at a political feast out west recently, "fits in" anywhere:

"A man traveling a country road stopped at a farmhouse to collect the votes of the household, for he chanced to be a candidate. His attention was attracted by a woman in the barnyard trying to persuade that diffident cult feat of milking a cow and keeping a suckling calf away. The man obligingly offered his assistance by way of holding the calf while the woman did the milking. Straddling the refractory calf he caught it by the neck and proceeded to keep it at a safe distance. While the calf in his struggles to free himself tossed the candidate about, he addressed himself to the woman in the following manner:

"'My name is Noah Sanderson. I am a candidate for sheriff of Jackson county. May I would like to have the vote of your people.'

"'Are you Noah Sanderson, and are you running against Charles Johnson?'

"The man signified that such was true.

"'Well,' said the woman, 'Charles Johnson has got you beat, for he is in the house holding the baby!'"

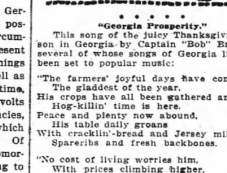
DISTRACTING NOISES



"Georgia Prosperity."

This song of the Valley Thanksgiving season in Georgia—by Captain "Bob" Braselton, several of whose songs of Georgia life have been set to popular music:

"The farmers' joyful days have come,
The gladdest of the year.
His crops have all been gathered and
Hog-killin' time is here.
Peace and plenty 'round is found,
His table daily groans
With cracklin'-bread and Jersey milk,
Sparibs and fresh backbones.

"No cost of living worries him,
With prices climbing higher,
He reads war news and smiles serene
Before his big log fire.
If you should chance to visit him
You'll always find good cheer
In genuine Georgia gingercake
And good old 'simmon beer."

Bailey's View of It.

Says George Bailey, in The Houston Post:

"The Atlanta Constitution thinks the Boston minister was smart in offering as a come-to-church inducement a promise that there would be no war sermon. That wasn't particularly smart—he merely wanted to avoid a fight during the services."

The Way to Fix Him.

Here speaks a Georgia philosopher of the strenuous stamp:

"When Tribulation comes to town
You bet I allus know him,
I wrestle with him up an' down
An' never let him throw him."

Oh, He'll Land Somewhere!

In an editorial on the result of the recent election, William Allen White quotes this Riley verse:

"Where's a feller goin' to,
An' what's he goin' to do;
An' how's he gon'r do it—
When the world busts through!"

The Holland Letter

Second only to the importance of the elections of Tuesday and, of course, the daily progress of the European war is the decision, tentatively at least, reached between the representatives of the British treasury and the federal reserve board at Washington that the stock exchanges of London and of New York are to remain closed for an indefinite period. This informal understanding, which was thought likely to become formal in the course of a few days, probably identifies the close of Sir George Paish's conferences in the United States, for it will make possible his speedy return to London. The magnitude and difficulty reflected by the subjects which have been under discussion since mid-August, have overshadowed one feature which is without any precedent, and is sure to become historic. For the British treasury has sent to the United States an official representative for the purpose of discussing with the highest authority in our national banking situation and also with bankers the best means for overcoming a very difficult situation and of restoring as far as practicable conditions as speedily as possible, so far as the relations between the United States and Great Britain of a financial and commercial character are concerned.

Many times in the past, official representatives of the British government have visited Washington for the purpose of discussing agreements which might be embodied in treaties. When these agreements thus embodied the constitutional authority of the federal senate operated either for the rejection or the ratification of the treaties. British diplomacy through special representative has often been in consultation with our state department, the meetings having been facilitated by the ambassador—or formerly the minister—from Great Britain to the United States.

But the visit of Sir George Paish and his associate, while it reflected the authority of the British treasury and, therefore, of the British government, nevertheless entailed no diplomacy, no relations or consultation with our state department. While any agreement perfected, in part, by the conferences of the British treasury's representative at Washington may involve the approval of the British government, on the other hand the agreement does not involve the approval of our own government except insofar as the federal reserve board at Washington approves it. It does not entail any treaties or, as a matter of fact, of this kind which the federal senate has authority to consider in executive session and to approve or reject.

The moral influence and to some extent the authority of the federal reserve board at Washington are to be considered because of the influence of this board with the national banks. Yet, Sir George Paish could have perfected an agreement with a board which was not a party, for it would have included only bankers, financiers and the chief leaders in international affairs. The creation of this kind is without any precedent, certainly in our own history, and probably in the history of the commercial world.

What the Agreement Is.

The tentative agreement informally announced on the afternoon of the day after the national election will, when it becomes formally adopted or approved by the British government, lead to silence in the London stock exchange and closed doors in our own. There is a world of meaning behind this decision. Apparently one of the reasons which justify it is the belief that in this country and England, that if these two stock exchanges be opened for business right away there will immediately follow such a sale of American securities now held in England, and perhaps elsewhere across the sea, as would swamp the United States. This view does not differ from the one which justified the governors of the stock exchange of New York in closing the doors of the exchange early in August. Since that time the floor of the exchange has been silent, and the various monuments or posts around which there commonly gathered many brokers engaged in buying or selling securities have seemed to those who have come to look into the exchange like dreary monuments of past glory.

At times since the exchange was closed some have ventured to say that they were persuaded that with the opening of the exchanges no great mass of American securities would be dumped upon the market, at least in amount large enough seriously to embarrass the United States. But the prevailing view at the various conferences in which Sir George Paish took part as representative of the British treasury undoubtedly was that the latter strongly favored enormous offering of American securities at whatever price could be obtained for them by those in England who have been holding these securities as investments.

One of the Arguments.

Then, again, hints have been heard in the financial district intimating that one of the arguments brought forward to justify the agreement was this—that, while the war lasts and for some years after, the demands for international loans will probably be greater than any other of like character ever made. The British will be called upon perhaps more than our own people think to be the case for vital assistance of this kind. In Sir George Paish's recent public communication to the Canadian people, he said that the United States ought to be and could become for some years the great international money lender. But in case the exchanges were open and a great body of American securities thrown upon the market our own resources would be seriously impaired and our ability to aid in financing international loans would be crippled and possibly destroyed. Furthermore, the dumping of a mass of American securities would surely depreciate their value, which was unannounced last week really were, yet there is no doubt in the minds of the leaders of the financial district that the moratorium. With such care have the details of the conferences between the British government representative and our own authorities been kept in confidence that it is not possible to report authoritatively what the reasons for this tentative agreement which was announ

GRATIFYING RESPONSE TO CHARITIES' APPEAL

Fund Is Increased by Pulpit Pleas, Newspaper Coupons and Letters.

At the close of the campaign on Monday, J. M. B. Hoxsey, vice chairman of the committee, reported that a total of $16,029.94 had been subscribed to revive the Associated Charities and he stated that before the end of the week the committee expected to increase the total to $20,000, the amount necessary to carry on the work for another year.

The committee sent out 223 letters Monday morning to citizens and business men, asking them to aid in the work by subscribing to the fund. Thirty-two replies were received in the evening mail. These replies brought assurances that $538.50 would be added to the fund.

The following is a list of subscribers of $20 and over: George Winship, Sr., $200; David Woodward, $100, A. K. Hawkes, $100; Mrs. Richard Johnston and mother, $50; Southern Ruralist, $50; W. M. Crumley, $50; S. C. Dobbs, $50; Dowman-Dozier Mfg. Co., $50; Mrs. John M. Slaton, $50; A. D. Adair, Jr., $30; Phoenix Mill, $20; C. D. Atkinson, $20; Ernest L. Rhodes company, $25; M. E. Ford, $25; T. R. Sawtell, 25; T. J. Hightower, Sr., $25; Oscar Pappenheimer, $25; Dr. W. S. Hendrix, $25; Mrs. H. E. Hopkins, $20; Atlanta Stove Works, $20, and George H. Boyd, $20.

Vice Chairman Hoxsey stated at the close of the day's work that the committee felt encouraged by the response made by business men and merchants to the appeals of the committee.

The committee expects to receive a number of responses through the subscription coupons which appeared in the Sunday papers, and any other liberal sum the appeal which went forth from nearly every pulpit in the city on Sunday will bring up the total to the amount which the committee set out to collect.

Women Delegates to Good Roads Meet

Senator Hoke Smith Denies He Promised 12 1-2-Cent Cotton

Senator Hoke Smith on Monday gave out a statement in which he denied that he promised 12½-cent cotton to the farmers of Georgia before the primary. Senator Smith declared that the charge was unqualifiedly false, as no one can control the price of the staple.

Senator Smith explained that while congress did not do all he wished done in the interest of cotton, yet, he says, the cotton situation in the south has been helped immensely by the legislation passed since the war began. Senator Smith explained that the European war interfered with the entire financial status of this country, and made it difficult to start the reserve banks, but, he said, twelve banks will open on the sixteenth of this month and more than one hundred millions of dollars of additional currency will be furnished the cotton states through the amendments to the Aldrich-Vreeland act.

Senator Smith also explained that the senate passed three additional measures, one providing for a system of warehouses to aid the farmer to handle his crop; another for an amendment to the Aldrich-Vreeland act so that banks connected with the Federal Reserve Currency association may use their bills receivable as security for additional currency issues, and the third bill which is pending in the senate permits all banks, members of the federal reserve system, to deposit all their reserves in their reserve bank of the district in which they are located.

Senator Smith says that he is certain that the three measures will be passed when congress meets again. He says that the two currency bills will make it easy to increase the currency in the nine cotton states to fifty millions of dollars, so that with the present legislation and the two additional measures, the additional currency furnished to the nine cotton states will exceed one hundred and fifty millions of dollars.

According to Senator Smith, the cotton problem can only be solved by cutting next year's crop.

MEDICAL ASSOCIATION HONORS DR. HANCOCK

Dr. Thomas H. Hancock, president of the Atlanta hospital, who, with the Atlanta party of physicians, is attending the annual convention of the Southern Medical association, now in session in Richmond, Va., was on Monday elected president of the surgical division of the association.

TEDDER SURRENDERS; DENIES HE IS GUILTY

Carlton C. Tedder, of Frank case fame, appeared at the office of Sheriff C. W. Heidt, Marietta, yesterday afternoon and surrendered under a grand jury indictment charging him with complicity in a series of alleged bond forgeries. Bond was assessed and he was allowed freedom.

He has engaged counsel in John A. Boykin. Strong denial of the charges was made both by the attorney and his client. Tedder declared he knew nothing of bond irregularities, and that he had never been associated with Harry Latham, the former city court attache accused of being the ringleader, who is now in jail in default of $2,000 bond.

Tedder came into the city from Cartersville. He said he had been on a trip to St. Louis, but had cut it short and hurried back to Atlanta when he heard of the indictment. He was once an attache of Attorney William A. Smith's office, and was involved in the Burns scandal that arose over the Frank case investigation.

Bachelors Had a Hard Time When Woman Was the Boss

A successful woman farmer and good roads builder is Miss Frances Pearle Mitchell, of Columbia, Mo., who arrived in Atlanta last night as the appointee of Governor Elliott W. Major, of Missouri, to the fourth American Roads congress.

Miss Mitchell is to be one of the speakers today at the woman's conference of the road congress, which holds two sessions in the assembly hall of the Ansley hotel.

She is the only woman in the state of Missouri who has ever had actual road work experience. Last summer, when Governor Major, who is a road enthusiast, set aside two days for everybody to work the public highways, Miss Mitchell, on account of her pioneer work among the women of the state for better roads, was chosen as one of the superintendents.

Hearing of Miss Mitchell's appointment as superintendent, the Bachelors' club, composed of all the old chaps of the town, who were "indeed charming, but entirely invulnerable," as Miss Mitchell put it, volunteered to work the public highway under her supervision.

"And you bet," said Miss Mitchell, "that I showed them how bossy a woman can be. By the end of the second day every 'old bach' in the gang was sore to his bones."

Miss Mitchell is one of the leading women of her state. For four years she has been president of the State Woman's Farmers' club, an association of women farmers interested in better farm administration and securing good roads in the farming districts.

"Every woman who is a member of this club is doing good road work," she said. "Every year she sees to it that the lateral roads on her own particular farm is scraped and kept in good condition. As a result of the combined efforts of the women of the state many good roads have been constructed in the past.

"I feel that the women of Georgia can do the same, if they will but get together, and make a combined effort for better roads. Instead of working directly for rural schools, work indirectly for better country schools by seeing to it that in the country districts better roads are built. Then the women of the state will be able to solve the problems of rural education. Every school will be made accessible to every country boy and girl."

Miss Mitchell will speak on "National Old Trails," with particular reference to the historic highway, Santa Fe road, which runs through her own state.

Storm King Mountain Attracts Large Crowd Of Good Roads Experts

To the left, as one enters the main entrance at the Auditorium, is seen a beautiful miniature mountain, representing Storm King, on the Hudson river, near West Point, N. Y. It is the exhibit of a road being constructed jointly by the New York State Highway commission and the Palisade Palisade Park association.

It is part of the continuous Palisade river road, which runs from Jersey City up the Hudson to West Point. The Storm King mountain section of the road, which, in the miniature exhibit, is seen under the process of construction, is the most expensive road building undertaking in the history of the world. It is costing $200,000 a mile to build the river road around this mountain.

Storm King is a huge mountain, and the road at points must be dug out of the rock side of the mountain by hand, as railroad tracks run at the foot of the mountain preventing blasting. At one point the road overlooks a precipice 200 feet above the waters of the Hudson river. Sixty miles the Hudson valley stretches northward and southward, presenting beautiful farm lands and prosperous cities and villages to the naked eye.

The exhibit is so ingeniously arranged as to display all the natural beauty of the surrounding country.

HOG AND HOMINY PARADE

Competition for Prizes Will Be Very Keen.

Keen competition will mark the big hog and hominy parade on Thursday, December 3, for the $225 in real cash prizes which the parade committee decided to offer at yesterday's meeting.

The first prize will be $100 in cash for the most attractive float. For the best advertising float there is offered $50; for the best children's display in automobiles $25; for the prettiest girl driving a car $25, and for the best comic masker on foot $25.

There will be plenty of music, the committee having arranged to engage six brass bands and the Atlanta drum corps.

Georgia and Georgia products, especially food products from the farm, will be the keynote of this parade, as of all the other big events of Hog and Hominy day.

The parade committee is composed of Julian V. Boehm, chairman; George Fauss, J. H. Atkinson, C. F. Baldwin and R. S. Abbott. This is an aggregation of Atlanta Ad Men who have planned many of the club's famous stunts, and in the parade they are going to be right there with the goods.

The committee of wholesale merchants, of which Frank Lowenstein is chairman, will hold a meeting today to plan further features of the hog and hominy program.

MONTFORD'S LAWYERS PREPARING SURPRISE

Dublin, Ga., November 9.—(Special.) Everything is in readiness in Laurens superior court for the trial of Ed Montford and John Gardner for killing Herschel Beacham several weeks ago. The case will be called Tuesday morning by Judge Larsen. The defense is said to be preparing a surprise upon the prosecution in the way of evidence clearing Montford.

RECORD HAS BIG STAFF.

Fine Quarters Provided by the Baltimore Publication.

A conspicuous place on the floor is occupied by The Manufacturers' Record, of Baltimore, where seats and tables are provided for any visitors who may wish to make use of such conveniences. At the head of the numerous representatives of The Record in attendance at the meeting is Richard H. Edmonds, editor and general manager, and Edgar I. S. Field, secretary of The Record company and southern representative; Albert Phenis, staff correspondent; Joan Glass, manager of the Chicago branch office; William H. Stone, of the editorial staff, and Richard Clark, private secretary to Mr. Edmonds.

Mr. Edmonds, as a director of the road congress, has been very much gratified with the assured great success of the meeting, and is much pleased with the splendid preparations Atlanta has made to take care of the visitors. Regarding the value of the meeting in the way of stimulating the vitally important work of road building in the south, and in appreciation of the selection of Atlanta city in which to hold the convention, The Manufacturers' Record has brought here a special edition, a larger one than any other outside newspaper.

BANKRUPTCY PETITION AGAINST GA. LUMBER CO.

Savannah, Ga., November 9.—(Special.)—Involuntary proceedings in bankruptcy were today instituted against the South Georgia Lumber company in the federal court by three banks in the north. The moving creditors are the First National Bank of Jersey City, the Hudson County National Bank of Jersey City and the Chemung Canal Trust Company of Elmira, N. Y.

The assents enumerated approximate $85,000. The lumber company has a large plant near Savannah on the Hermitage plantation.

ATLANTA CONVICTS WILL GIVE PARADE FOR ROAD EXPERTS

The delegates to the American Road Congress, hundreds of whom are from distant sections of the country and have never had an opportunity of witnessing the "great black mass of highway labor of the south," will be treated to the rare sight Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock, when 700 negro convicts of Fulton county will march by the Auditorium.

The procession will assemble at the state capitol and march across the Washington street viaduct past the Auditorium.

Every movable piece of property belonging to the Fulton county department of public works will be in the procession. It will include the wealth of road machinery owned by the county, every convict camp guard, every bloodhound puppy, used to track escaped convicts, and every county road official will be in the parade.

The procession will be headed by the county commissioners riding in automobiles and W. T. Wilson, county highway engineer.

AS HOUSER'S SLAYER WOMAN IDENTIFIES BLACK IN BIBB JAIL

Macon, Ga., November 9.—(Special.) Cassie Bradley, a negro woman from Fort Valley, this evening positively identified Claude Starks, the negro held here in the county jail for safekeeping, as the one who shot and killed Bradford Houser, son of Emmett Houser, a few nights ago on a street carnival in the Houston county town.

The woman says she witnessed the shooting and is positive that Starks is the man. Emmett Houser also visited the jail today and declared later that he believes the right negro is in custody.

WARM WEATHER IS STILL IN STORE

You of the overcoatless clan who bewail the suddenness of yesterday's cold snap may rest assured that there is plenty of warm weather yet to be enjoyed before winter assails us with its fullest force. The weather man Monday issued the glad tidings that the low temperature would begin to moderate and that Wednesday would bring clear and sunshiny weather.

Sunday's rain and the subsequent cold winds it was stated from the weather office, were due to a disturbance along the Gulf coast. It is temporary, however. Last night was an exceedingly cold one in comparison, and today will be a bit chilly. But tomorrow will be less severe with no prospects for rain during the remainder of the week.

VICTOR INNES HEARING IS SET FOR WEDNESDAY

Advices from San Antonio state that Victor E. Innes and his wife, held for the murder of Beatrice and Elois Nelms will be given a hearing tomorrow morning on their application to fix a date for the trial.

Marshall Nelms and his mother are still fighting in Texas to extradite the Inneses to Georgia soil, where they will be prosecuted under indictments by the Fulton county grand jury, charging larceny after trust. This latter move in the proceedings is merely an effort to forestall the proposed action of Marshall and his mother.

Solicitor Dorsey is preparing to push prosecution in case Innes and his wife are brought to Georgia. All interested in the prosecution prefer to bring them to trial in Atlanta because of the better prospects for conviction. It is feared that the murder charge in Texas will not hold strongly enough on account of the state's inability to prove conclusively that the missing girls are dead.

AMERICUS BANK CRASH BEFORE U. S. GRAND JURY

One Hundred Witnesses From Sumter County Summoned Before Body in Macon.

Macon, Ga., November 9.—(Special.) The United States grand jury for the southern district of Georgia convened here this morning. L. Mollenux, of Macon, being chosen foreman. Judge Speer's charge to the jury was brief, and he asked the jurors, if possible, to complete their labors by the end of the week, since, under the law, he must convene the district court in Augusta, in the northeastern district, on next Monday. If the grand jury is unable to finish up this week a recess will be declared until a later date.

A large number of witnesses were before the grand jury today. The failure last February of the Americus National bank, of Americus, will in all probability be investigated, beginning Wednesday, 100 witnesses from Sumter county having been summoned. The bank failed for $300,000, and George D. Wheatley, Jr., the assistant cashier, has been missing since the crash came. A large number of Sumter county people were ruined financially by the failure of the bank.

Frank Witness Arrested.

Macon, Ga., November 9.—(Special.) T. B. Harrell and J. W. Shields, the latter having been a witness in the famous Frank case in Atlanta, were released this morning by Recorder Cochran, after having spent the night in the barracks under a charge of loitering. They claimed they had only been in the city two days before the police picked them up, and Shields declared that he had been forced to sell his show as he could get no more space on the Midway at the state fair. When released both promised to return to Atlanta and forever in the future to give Macon a wide berth.

DOCTORS' STATE COUNCIL WILL MEET WEDNESDAY

Macon, Ga., November 9.—(Special.) The state council of the Georgia Medical association will meet in Macon Wednesday to arrange for the three-day meeting of the state association to be held here in April. This council represents the executive committee and is composed of one representative from each congressional district in the state, and two official members, Dr. W. B. Hardman, of Commerce, the state president, and Dr. C. C. Lyle, of Augusta, the state secretary and treasurer.

Other members of the council are: Dr. L. Lawton Hiers, Savannah; Dr. Hoyt Little, Thomson; Dr. Thomas O. Harvard, Hahira; Dr. H. W. Terrell, Lagrange; Dr. W. L. Champion, Atlanta; Dr. J. R. B. Branch, Macon; Dr. G. W. Willis, Rome; Dr. D. G. Adams, Greensboro; Dr. J. H. Doaney, Gainesville; Dr. W. J. Cranston, Milledgeville; Dr. A. G. Little, Valdosta, and Dr. E. T. Coleman, Graymount.

The Sixth District Medical Society will also hold its annual meeting in Macon tomorrow. Interesting papers will be read and officers elected for the ensuing term. Dr. W. B. Hardman, state president, will be the guest of honor.

Jefferson Court Convenes.

Louisville, Ga., November 9.—(Special.)—The November term of the superior court of Jefferson county convened here this morning, with Judge B. T. Rawlings presiding and with Solicitor General Hugh Dorsey looking after the state's interests. This term marks the close of Judge Rawlings' service as one of the middle circuit. In the able charge to the grand jury he urged that gamblers and gamblers and asked the grand jury to be most diligent in their prosecution. While there was no court last May at the regular time, there is not a very heavy docket at this time, the city having taken care of most of the legal business. There are two negro murder cases.

"BULL MOOSE LOSER MADE ONE PROMISE, AND THAT TO WIFE

Washington, November 9.—A promise to his wife to stay at home more at nights and prepare for the next world, was the only pledge made by Max M. Hunberry, defeated progressive candidate for congress from the first Kentucky district. Mr. Hunberry filed his report here today, showing he neither received nor spent a cent.

"The only promise I made any living human being during the whole of my campaign," read the affidavit, "was to my wife, which promise was that I would be with her at least as much or more after the election than I had prior thereto, and I did give her a little

FAMOUS FOR HER HAIR

Actress Tells How to Obtain It.

Madame Rose, the well-known actress who played on one of the leading vaudeville circuits the past winter and who is especially noted for her long, beautiful hair, in a recent interview in Chicago made the following statement: "Any lady or gentleman can promote the growth of their hair and make it soft and glossy with this simple recipe which they can mix at home. To a half pint of water add 7 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ oz. of glycerine. Apply to the scalp two or three times a week with the finger tips. This is not only the finest hair grower I have ever known, but it prevents the hair from falling out, removes dandruff and scalp humors, darkens streaked, faded gray hair and makes it soft and glossy. The ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost."

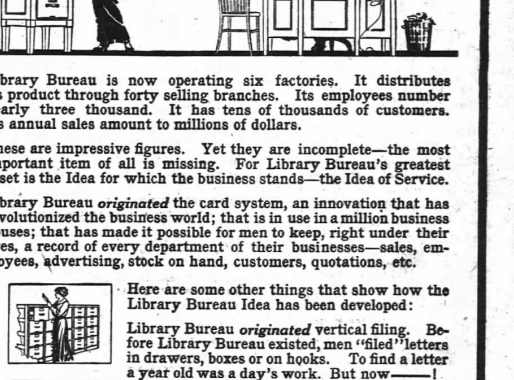
Library Bureau is now operating six factories. It distributes its product through forty selling branches. Its employees number nearly three thousand. It has tens of thousands of customers. Its annual sales amount to millions of dollars.

These are impressive figures. Yet they are incomplete—the most important item of all is missing. For Library Bureau's greatest asset is the Idea for which the business stands—the Idea of Service.

Library Bureau originated the card system, an innovation that has revolutionized the business world; that is in use in a million business houses; that has made it possible for men to keep, right under their eyes, a record of every department of their businesses—sales, employees, advertising, stock on hand, customers, quotations, etc.



Here are some other things that show how the Library Bureau Idea has been developed:

Library Bureau originated vertical filing. Before Library Bureau existed, men "filed" letters in drawers, boxes or on hooks. To find a letter a year old was a day's work. But now——!

Library Bureau originated the unit record desk—a desk that has doubled the capacity of the worker and trebled his comfort. Seated in a comfortable chair, he has at his fingers' ends anywhere from 10,000 to 18,000 records—credit data, stock records, ledger cards, etc.

Library Bureau originated the counter height unit—card and filing cabinets, etc., combined so as to form a practicable counter. A saver of space and steps. Particularly adapted for offices where space is limited and rentals high.

And now Library Bureau is introducing a new—and better—method of filing—the L. B. Automatic Index. "Great" is the only word that describes it. It is quick—quick in, quick out. Makes correct filing easy and incorrect filing difficult.

Tech Favored to Win Saturday

SPORTS—CONDUCTED BY DICK JEMISON.

YELLOW JACKETS ARE FAVORITES

Majority of Fans Are Only Doping Size of Their Score Against Georgia on Next Saturday.

Georgia and Tech, those time-honored rivals in athletics, are making ready for their annual battle here Saturday, Atlanta's biggest game of the season.

To the rivals, this game is THE game of all games. Victory in this game atones for any defeats in any other game during the season.

For the first time in years the dope in advance of the game points to a Tech victory. Georgia's season has been the most disastrous in the history of the school in the past several seasons, while Tech has shown bright spots throughout.

To the majority of the fans and dopesters, it is just a question of by how big a score the Jackets will defeat Georgia. We do not share their optimism on this question, knowing the old rivals as we do.

Georgia Will Fight.

Georgia's fighting ability against their old rivals is not to be discounted, and Atlanta football fans are going to see a better game than they at present are willing to believe is possible in the light of recent results.

The Jackets do not expect to romp. Down deep in their hearts they may think they will, but they are not going to let any such idea get on the surface and influence them in the game. They made this mistake in the game with Alabama, and they were defeated through no reason in the world than overconfidence.

The miserable fumbling of the Jackets at critical times is another thing to be considered. It has hurt them in every game they have played, and it will hurt them Saturday unless they correct it.

Fumbling a Factor.

If we were reasonably sure that the fumbling would be eliminated by the Jackets, we would be willing to accept the general verdict of all, "what will the score be."

But this defect makes us doubtful. True Heisman will drill his men on catching punts and endeavoring to hold the ball. They will get drills in that more than in any other department. The rest of their game is improving with each succeeding game.

Another thing that leads to the belief that the Jackets will romp away against Georgia they will have their most formidable line-up of the season with every player knowing more football and with every cripple in his best condition.

This condition stuff mitigates against Georgia. Her men are in admitted poor condition, and the chances are that she will lose her best lineman in the game. It is said to be very doubtful whether Henderson will be able to play or not.

Comparative scores certainly give Tech a big edge. She held Auburn to two touchdowns. Auburn defeated Mississippi A. & M. 19 to 0, and the latter defeated Georgia 9 to 0. On the same argument Auburn defeated Tech 14 to 0 and Clemson 28 to 0, while Clemson defeated Georgia 33 to 15.

But regardless of what may be the dope in advance, this is the big game of the football season, and the football fans know they will see a fierce scrap, and the attendance is going to be a large one.

Willingham Smith Elected Athletic Basketball Head

By Tilton Forbes.

Willingham Smith, the plucky little forward on the Atlanta Athletic club's basketball team, was elected captain last night.

Never before in the history of basketball at the Athletic club has the opportunity been so great to win the southern championship, and with "little Smity" piloting the boys, enthusiasm is running high.

This year's material is the best ever assembled in the history of basketball in Atlanta. The old men are all on hand as follows: Smith, Forbes, at forwards; Walter DuBard, the south's peerless center, at the pivot post, and Ed Carter and Lamar "Pie" Weaver, at guards.

Coach Joe Bean, in his annual opening speech to the players last night, expressed himself as satisfied that he could win the southern championship this year with this old bunch. However, Mr. Bean has many new cards on hand. Such men as Zieg Martin, a Vanderbilt university ex-star, and Frank Carter, brother to Ed Carter, who played on the University of Georgia team last year, which team tied for the southern championship with the Athletic club and Columbus Y. M. C. A.

Then, there is Tom Abbott, who also learned basketball at the University of Georgia. He will be valuable in the forward field of the squad, as he is a sure goal shooter from any angle of the field.

On Saturday night the squad will give its first public demonstration of the season. "Pie" Weaver, who says "he is some blonde," is ambitious to break up the cigarette habit on the squad. The date for the fray has been set for Saturday night, when the regular weekly dance will be held at the downtown clubhouse in the gymnasium.

The blondes, consisting of Weaver, Abbott, Martin, Forbes, Ernest and Carl Ramspeck, McCurry, Johnny Graves, Merkle, Gray and others, will enter a team against a team from the brunettes, picked from Ed Carter, Frank Harrison, Tat Locke, Coach Bean and others. Frank Carter and Walter DuBard, who aren't decided blondes or brunettes, have not been placed on either side.

WELSH AND WHITE FIGHT TO A DRAW

Milwaukee, Wis., November 9.—Freddie Welsh, of Wales, lightweight champion of the world, was held to a draw by fierce fighting Tom Whitey Ungrove here tonight.

Under the law a referee's decision could not be given, but it was the opinion of the newspaper experts that Charley White, the Chicago boy, eeved up enough by his whirlwind finish.

White opened a wound over the champion's left eye and Welsh, partially blinded by blood, was forced to back away in the tenth and cover up to escape White's lights and lefts to the head.

First Round Lively.

The first round was lively but ineffective. White deserved a shade in the second and third rounds, landing hard blows on Welsh and striving to land over his left hook, credited with being his knockout punch. White landed a good uppercut in the third and put right and left to the body, but followed by missing with three left hooks.

Welsh began to fight like a champion in the fourth, backing White into his corner and giving him a good lacing. In the fifth he took another big lead, mauling White all around the ring and taking little punishment in return. The Chicago boy showed better in the sixth. Welsh jarred White with lefts and took a hook round by shade.

White came back strong in the seventh and after taking two hard ones, shook up Welsh with a right. White missed with two uppercuts and two fights in the ribs, but was not discouraged and hooked Welsh in the head. round was about even.

Welsh deserved the eighth by a shade, although both boys missed many times. Welsh landed three lefts to the head as the round ended.

White Outfights Welsh.

White outfought Welsh in the ninth. They traded punches at the bell and after a hard rally in the center of the ring, the Chicago boy made the champion back away. White drove Welsh into a corner and laced him with stinging rights and lefts to the body. White landed two rights on Welsh's jaw as the round ended.

White rushed the fight in the tenth, again driving Welsh into a corner, and landed little time without a return. White opened up a cut over Welsh's eye and peppered him with rights and lefts to the head. Welsh was playing wildly with blood trickling into his eye. He went into a clinch and as they broke White put two lefts to Welsh's head and a right to his jaw. Welsh took the rounds with White all the way. White left the ring without a mark, while Welsh was bleeding profusely.

When they weighed at 3 o'clock the champion stripped at 134 and White in fighting garb weighed 133.

Two New Managerial Faces In This League Next Season

Two new faces will be seen at the helms of Southern league clubs when the game rings next spring, and one magnate will change his scene of activities over the stove season.

While the performance of Little Rock into the fold, Montgomery again being grouped, a new manager appears R. J. Allen, owner of the Little Rock franchise, that has just been purchased from Montgomery, announcing that he will manage the team.

The new league magnate is an old Philadelphia National league star. He played nearly 500 years of age and played back in the eighties and nineties for many seasons. He is sole owner of the Little Rock club, and believes that he can make money out of baseball in the Arkansas capital.

While he will theoretically be manager of the team, he is desirous of obtaining the services of a field captain who will direct the team on the field, his own management being confined to securing players and the like.

Just who will land the captain's job, which will be almost equivalent to a managership, is a matter of conjecture.

Brincoe Lord, who managed Mobile last season, will shift the scene of his activities from Mobile to Memphis, having been signed up by the Turtles.

Charley Schmidt, the star catcher with the Gulls last season, and one of the most popular of the visiting players, will succeed Lord at Mobile. They he has the best wishes of every Atlantan, too.

Two faces, familiar ever since the present Southern league has been in existence, will not be seen this season. Bobby Gilks, of Montgomery, and Mike Finn, of Memphis, will go elsewhere. Gilks will probably return to scouting, while Mike is said to have a managerial job at Lynn, Mass.

Finn will be on the job again at Atlanta. Bill Schwartz at Nashville; Shano McCormick at New Orleans, and Johnny Dobbs at New Orleans, and Carleton Molesworth at Birmingham.

Savannah High School Plays Tech High Team In Atlanta on Saturday

Savannah, Ga., November 9.—(Special.)—The team representing the Savannah High school is just reaching top form and expects to be in great condition in its battle with Tech High in Atlanta next Saturday. Coach Stanton hasn't been satisfied with the work of the Blue and White men, and in last Saturday's contest with Mercer he experimented a little, using new men in new places, and the result was that the Savannah High school defeated the Mercer Reserves, 39 to 0.

This was the first game the local boys have played this season. Their first contest was staged with an eleven composed of former high school men, and resulted in a tie. On the following Saturday the Blue and White Savannah played another tie game with the Piedmont institute, of Waycross, and on the following Saturday the same eleven was defeated by the Richmond academy, of Augusta, 19 to 6.

The team is going to put in a week of gruelling practice and expects to make it hot for the Atlanta school. Frank Perry, star of the Savannah High school backfield, Coach Munroe Hutton is an old Georgia Tech man.

Increase World's Series Games to Best Five Out Of Nine in a Series

Philadelphia, Pa., November 8.—A proposition to increase the number of games in the world's baseball championship series, from the best in seven to the best in nine was favorably considered by the American league managers at their recent meeting in Chicago, according to a report here tonight. The proposition, it was said, will be submitted to the National league at its annual meeting.

Connie Mack returned from Chicago today and said that the matter had been thoroughly discussed at the American league meeting, but declined to say what action had been taken.

154-Game Schedule For Southern Again In 1915 Campaign

The 154-game schedule will be tried again in the Southern league next season. It is not known whether the schedule will be run as it was last season or whether it will be stretched out with a few off days here and there.

The schedule committee is composed of President Kavanaugh, of Nashville; Andrews, of Chattanooga, and President Jackson, of Mobile. They will meet in Chattanooga in January.

Tifton 12, Piedmont 6.

Waycross, Ga., November 9.—(Special.—Tifton Aggies won an interesting football game from Piedmont institute today, 12 to 6. A long run after the ball was gained on a fumble gave Tifton the first touchdown, while line plunges were mainly responsible for the second. Piedmont showed exceptionally good work in breaking the visitors' line and made several pretty end run gains.

MINORS ARE LOYAL TO ORGANIZED BALL

Omaha, Neb., November 9.—There was every indication tonight that the Federal league would not be represented on baseball clubs, in convention here, would declare unanimously in favor of continuing under the national agreement. The Central league already has pledged itself to do this.

Nearly 300 delegates to the convention, which will open tomorrow, are here. They spent the afternoon and evening discussing baseball politics, while the national arbitration board was considering 263 complaints and protests.

There was no lack of expression by baseball officials which indicated the feeling that the leagues should remain loyal to organized baseball. President Norris L. O'Neill, of the Western league, said:

"The Federals have nothing to offer the minor leagues. Therefore the Federal league cannot expect the minor league body to take any interest in outlaw baseball. The Federal league must rectify its own mistakes and not ask minor leagues to do that for it."

The board of arbitration found on its hands a much greater task than it had anticipated, 268 cases being presented for its consideration. The board spent the afternoon hearing these complaints, and it was evident it would not conclude its sessions until some time tomorrow.

Former governor Tener arrived today, and President Herrmann and Ban Johnson are expected tomorrow.

The board of arbitration remained in session until tonight. A report is given out by Chairman John H. Farrell included.

Harry Mathews v. Newport News, Va., dismissed.

J. Wallace v. Augusta, Ga., allowed.

Morcum v. Virginia league, allowed.

BIG LEAGUE MEN LEAD FOR OMAHA.

Chicago, November 9.—August Herrmann, chairman of the national commission, B. B. Johnson, president of the American league, C. C. Pyle, president of the International league, and Joseph Flanner, Federal league secretary, left tonight for Omaha to be present at the annual meeting of the National Association of Professional Baseball clubs.

Herrmann spent most of the day conferring with Charles Weeghman, president of the Chicago Federals, and Harry Sinclair, of the Buffalo and Brooklyn Federal clubs. They would discuss anything that took place at the conference. Herrmann admitted that he had been empowered by C. J. Taft to negotiate the sale of the Chicago National club.

"The rumor that the minors will withdraw from organized baseball is laughable," said Herrmann. "What would they have to gain? We paid them nearly $250,000 for players, here would they sell their players if they withdrew?"

After his conference with Weeghman, Herrmann would not say that peace would come immediately, and insisted that some serious problems must be solved before an agreement could be reached, including that of taking care of the ball players. He said was the most serious. Both Herrmann and Weeghman acted in their conference as individuals, they said, but admitted that should their preliminary negotiations result in finding a common ground between organized baseball and the outlaw league they would submit it from their respective colleagues to draw up an actual treaty of peace.

FIRST LEG OF RACE WON BY BARNEY OLDFIELD

Needles, Cal., November 9.—Barney Oldfield won the first leg of the Phoenix road race today.

Oldfield's elapsed time for the 302 miles from Los Angeles was 6:45:55. W. C. Durant, checking-in one second ahead of him, showed elapsed time of 6:51:54. T. J. Beaudet, No. 1, was third, in 7:14:10, and Otto Davis, last year's winner, fourth, in 9:19:30.

The twenty starters for the 672-mile seventh annual Phoenix road race, charged out of Los Angeles at a sixty-miles-an-hour clip. F. J. Pink, No. 19, went into a ditch fifteen miles out of Los Angeles. Two other drivers, Sprague and Buckius, in No. 16, were hurt.

Tomorrow the twelve remaining racers will start on the second leg of the race to Prescott, Ariz., 336 miles away. The final leg will be from Prescott to Phoenix, Ariz.

CONGRESS PLANS GOVERNMENT HELP

have but one-tenth of the taxing ability for road construction that the states of Massachusetts and New York have.

The federal government, he said, should assist in roads of national importance, because it is up to the farmer and country to build the roads from his farm to the railroad station.

With the co-operation of the federal government and state governments, he said, is but a question of time until the roads of this country, in a compact system, will be the backbone of the transportation facilities of the nation.

The American Automobile association, he said, called for the expenditure of millions of dollars spread over a large area, but for expenditures aiding large and important areas, so that roads will be built where they will do most good.

Lewis Speare Speaks.

Lewis R. Speare, president of the Massachusetts State Automobile association, was introduced by Chairman Diehl, and expressed great pleasure at being able to speak to the congress. He gave a general review of the development of good roads in the state of Massachusetts and the resultant benefit to the farming districts.

He said:

"Abandoned farms in Massachusetts disappeared with the appearance of good roads, and now beautiful farms and summer homes are found in their stead.

"For military purposes this country needs good roads. We should be in a bad fix if conflict in the country should come about, as in Europe, with our present roads.

"Road development, as insisted on by the American Automobile association, must progress from centers of population to the farms."

Greatest in the World.

Congressman W. P. Borland, of Missouri, was greeted with applause.

He said:

"I believe in a national law for good roads. The investment of federal funds in such a cause is the best economic proposition. This is the greatest problem in the country today. I hope it will always be so, for otherwise it would mean we have no longer a surplus production at home to sell abroad.

"The rural highway is the first link in the chain of transportation. The bale of cotton or the bushel of corn that you raise starts over your rural road. We are spending money to improve the harbor of New York, from where your products are shipped, but your products are of no much in the commerce of the world when it leaves the farmer's gate as when it passes Sandy Hook.

"There is no division of interest between city and country on the point of good roads. The business of the country is the foundation for the business of the city. The roads help the city just as your regional bank will help the other parts of the south which it serves.

Not a Local Proposition.

"The greatest drawback we have had in the good roads movement is that it has been conceived as a local proposition. It was argued that a farm highway should be built by people living on the farm and on it, just as in a city.

"That is wrong, because city property is valuable on account of its accessibility. The value of farms exists only as there are adequate means of getting farm products from the farm. At the same time, the incomes of the people of the city are increased by the prosperity of the farmer and the rural districts. If the cities are taxed to improve the rural districts by the construction of good roads, the effect will be but to be reflected back upon the prosperity of the city.

Where it Will Do Good.

"I won't vote for a bill which spreads money over a large territory. I want the money centered on some special mileage where it can do real good, whether a cent or $1 is spent in my county or not.

"We want a system of roads that will open our country up. But we've got to follow a system.

"First, build the big trunk roads; then the provincial or county roads. And after that the little by-roads will come.

"The big highways cannot be consistently built and kept up by local districts. We must have a special general fund for this, with proper supervision.

For Local Operations.

"The smaller roads are legitimate objects for local operations.

"We can't have a blanket law to build 250,000 miles of road. We have to go to start somewhere on some specific road. We have got to realize that. It is folly to think we can accomplish anything any other way.

"The roads, though, must be worked out on a system. No town should have a market monopoly, but there should be other roads leading from the same territory to other cities, so farmers may have different markets."

Mr. Speare spoke, in passing, on the progress of good road development since the advent of the Atlanta road congress, four years ago, as he introduced S. Percy Hooper, state highway commissioner of New Hampshire.

Mr. Hooper's Speech.

Mr. Hooper said in part:

"In my state we have been confronted with a proposition of building roads at low cost. However, regardless of the price of a road we have got to get it put in on its roads. There are good roads here, but economic adjustments must be made.

"The theory of good road building lies in constructing a kind of road. Good surfaces can be put on roads later, but good foundations must be satisfactory road for any kind of road surface.

"I would plead with the poorer communities not to waste their money financially able to build roads with expensive surfaces, to expend their energy in building roads with good drainages.

Sand Clay Fairly Cheap.

"The sand clay roads are fairly cheap, and can be economically built in many of the counties of Georgia. This class of roads, with good drainages, will answer the purpose for good roads in Georgia.

Dr. Hyde Pratt, state geologist of North Carolina, emphasized the points of Mr. Hooper.

He said:

States Should Help.

"I believe that should the federal government build a main road it should be obligatory upon the state to build a proportion of roads leading into the federal road.

"The federal road fund should be distributed to sections where the roads are most needed, and should not be so divided up that each congressman may get a small slice for his district.

"By keeping the men the money should be spent should be put into the hands of a competent engineering force, which will get best results that way, instead of having a little patch of government road here and yonder."

Mr. Kenyon, president of the Indiana Good Roads association, spoke.

To listen to these speeches or read about good roads, he declared, gives you a nice mental reaction, but it does not make you get up and hustle.

Too Much Talking.

"The road congress is not any further along is that we do too much talking and listening and not get to the trouble to push the cause along. We get no accomplishments if we are not going to get results until we get all the people so interested that they will get after their congressmen and senators who can produce results at Washington.

"If you people believe in federal aid for roads, get after your Washington representatives. Shake your fist under the nose of the congressman and tell him if he is not in favor of federal aid you are not in favor of him. You will find his ear to the ground.

"See to it, too, that such a bill is not a pork barrel bill. Every congressman stand for a bill that will spread such a fund over every congressional district in the country.

"The right way and practical way to start is for the state to build a

BENNETT ENTHUSIASTIC OVER CONCRETE ROADS

Connecticut Highway Commissioner Highly Praises This Material.

Charles J. Bennett, state highway commissioner of Connecticut, is a concrete road enthusiast.

He is not of the faith that many of the concrete road companies would set forth, which is that such roads are practically indestroyable, but he does believe in concrete roads.

To quote Mr. Bennett's faith, a word of explanation is necessary.

It costs Connecticut practically $875.-000 per year merely to keep up its roads. This is a hard thing for Georgians to understand.

The fact of the case is that Connecticut is by far a smaller state than Georgia, and the traffic—as a statewide proposition—is much greater, however. For instance, the distance between New Haven and Hartford is but a bare 36 miles. Yet there are many good sized cities between the two places, and most of the freight traffic is conducted by auto trucks. The same holds good in other parts of the state. Moreover, there is a great deal of tourist traffic—for instance, an automobile a minute between New York and Boston—on other routes in Connecticut. The result of this is that, while the roads of Connecticut are substantially built up, the problem of maintenance remains considerably larger than the road-building proposition in Georgia, which is a much larger state.

During the last few years Connecticut has been experimenting with concrete roads, from which material a sample road has just been built on Broadrows avenue in Atlanta. During these two years in Connecticut the concrete roads have given satisfactory service. It is the theory of the state highway commissioner, including Mr. Bennett, that the road of that commission is attending the congress—that the concrete road is not a permanent highway. The commission does believe, though, that the concrete road will last longer than most others and believes that the best evidence of such a road is worn out that it will still serve as the foundation for another road surfacing.

At all events, however, it must be borne in mind, that the cover [illegible] of the heavy auto-truck traffic in Georgia is conducted on 10 per cent of the [illegible] while in Connecticut at least 75 per cent is so conducted.

Besides Mr. Bennett, from Connecticut attending the congress there are the following prominent men from Connecticut, are here.

W. H. Hale, a business man; Frank L. Stiles, a brick manufacturer; Leon S. Cadwell, superintendent of streets, of Hartford; F. L. Ford, city engineer, of New Haven; W. E. Kendall, superintendent of streets, of Waterbury; Paul Nash, superintendent of streets, of Stamford; James McDonald, assistant highway commissioner, and a number of other prominent citizens of Connecticut, are here.

MORE BLOODSHED LIKELY IN MEXICO

trol of government machinery after November 10.

General Gutierrez, with the consent of the convention, has named Enrique C. Llorente as special envoy to confer in Washington. He formerly was Mexican consul at Galveston, Texas, for years and married the daughter of a prominent American in Galveston. He is also empowered to contract for alleged recruiting of Mexicans on American territory during the present regime.

ULTIMATUM ISSUED BY GEN. CARRANZA.

Mexico City, November 9.—General Venustiano Carranza today issued an ultimatum declaring himself chief executive of the republic. The proclamation was issued at Cordoba and directed to military chieftains and officers throughout the central government, who were ordered to disregard the mandates of the Aguas Calientes convention. To the military chieftains Carranza said that unless they left the conference and were back at their posts by 6 o'clock tuesday evening their offices will be would assume their places.

General Eulalio Gutierrez, appointed provisional president of Mexico by the Aguas Calientes convention, today declared himself the chief executive beginning November 10, and has appointed the following cabinet:

Foreign minister, Fernando Iglecias Calderon.

Minister of communications, General Antonio Villareal.

Minister of war, General Juvencio Robles.

Minister of the interior, General Jose Blanco.

Minister of public instructions, Signor Soto y Gama.

Minister of justice, Jose Vasconselos.

Minister of progress, Pastor Roaix.

Minister of the treasury, Felicita Villarreal.

Enrique C. Llorente will be appointed Washington representative of the constitutionalists.

Roque Estrada, private secretary to General Carranza, who arrived in the capital tonight from Cordoba, said:

"We are exhausting all the legitimate means to bring about a peaceful arrangement of this trouble. The Aguas Calientes convention must obey General Carranza or its delegates will be treated as traitors. We have sufficient means at our disposal to make good our commands."

Foreign Minister Fabela expected to arrive in the capital tomorrow from Cordoba, where he has been with General Carranza arranging details of the evacuation of Vera Cruz by the American forces. According to a high official here a statement by the Carranza government on evacuation has been promised for tomorrow.

Heavy fighting was in progress today in the suburb of Xochimilco between Zapata and Carranza followers. Several trainloads of soldiers were sent from the capital to reinforce the Xochimilco garrison. Carranza's forces checked the Zapata advance.

FINE SPEECHES HEARD BY ALLIANCE SOCIETY

A number of members of the Alliance Debating society and the Lowndes Circle Educational league competed in a close contest last night for the gold medal offered for the best essay in a debate to be held early in December.

Last night's winners were M. Cohen, H. Gershon, J. Frankel, J. Hrail, S. Epstein and S. Feldman. The judges were Benjamin S. Levy, K. Levine and J. Kuniansky. The judges were Mrs. Rose Cohen, Colonel Sam Castleton and Colonel Walter Sanola. Rabbi Jacob Kaplan, director of public speaking at the Alliance, presided. The contestants spoke on "Universal Disarmament."

The Treatment of Influenza or La Grippe

It is quite refreshing these days to read of a clearly defined treatment for influenza or La Grippe. In an article in the Journal of the American Medical Society of New York City, Dr. James Bell of Boston is quoted as saying he is convinced that too much medication is both valueless and injurious.

When called to a case of la grippe, the patient is usually seen when the fever is present, as the chill which occasionally ushers in the disease, has generally passed away. Dr. Bell then orders that the bowels be opened freely with salts, "Antoids" or citrate of magnesia. For the high fever, severe headache, pains and general soreness, one Anti-Kamnia Tablet every three hours is quickly followed by complete relief. Ask for A-K Tablets. They are also unexcelled for headache, neuralgia and all pains.

EXCHANGE REOPENS EARLY NEXT WEEK

New York Traders Confident the Doors Will Open Next Week—No Definite Date Has Been Fixed.

New York, November 9.—Expectations that a definite date for reopening the cotton exchange would be fixed immediately following Saturday's court order, permitting the sale of cotton tied up by the failure of a large house here last July, were not realized today, but the delay was attributed merely to the necessity of securing a few more signatures to the temporary corporation-syndicate agreements. The board of managers has called a meeting of members for Wednesday to consider tentative plans for the reorganization of a clearing house and the organization from here will attend Thursday's meetings in Washington on rules and regulations to be issued by the treasury and agricultural departments in connection with the new cotton futures law. It was also announced by the conference committee that there would be a ballot on 17,000 bales of December cotton, evidences of which are to be delivered by December 15 to 7.51c before general business was resumed.

These matters, however, are not expected to interfere with plans for the opening of the market, and the talk around the floor today reflected confidence in a resumption of business by the beginning of next week.

The census report proved about as expected, 9,828,695 bales having ginned to November 1, against 8,330,-396 bales last year. The evidences of a large amount of cotton in the interior has tended to depress the cotton, and July-June closed at an advance of 1 point in Liverpool.

Unfavorable reports on the curb here continued to rule around 7.87, but most of the business was at that figure, while southern spot markets were unchanged to 1-16c lower to 1-8c higher in some sections.

Advances in New Orleans.

New Orleans, November 9.—In spite of the bearish showing of ginning returns, the market in New Orleans had a good tone and made advances over the level of the week-end. Spots were advanced up 1-16 to 7 2-8 and January contracts rose to 7.67 in liquidation and covering.

At a meeting of the future brokers' association today the proposition to increase commission rates was laid on the table, and the market will reopen on the old rates of $15 for each 100 bales, both buyers and sellers, as before the close of the exchange. The general idea seemed to be that the rates would be resumed Monday morning. In anticipation of this, the market opened with declines down to 5.65, which is 200 points under the level at which the exchange closed when the European war began.

BANKRUPTCY ACTION AGAINST LUMBER CO.

Savannah, Ga., November 9.—Involuntary proceedings in bankruptcy were instituted in federal court here today against the South Georgia Lumber company by attorneys for the Union trust bank of Jersey City. The Houston County National bank, of Jersey City, and the Commercial Cadiz Trust company, of Elmira, N. Y., which hold notes indorsed by the president of the company for the insolvent lumber company for $253,971, $39,329 and $22,630, respectively. The Savannah company has a large plant near Savannah and another in Bryan county. Maynard C. Cheney, of Sayville, Ga., is president of the South Georgia Lumber company.

It is alleged the lumber company is insolvent and committed an act in bankruptcy during August by transferring practically all of its property to the Seaboard Lumber company. It is charged the transfer was with intent to "hinder, delay and defraud" the creditors.

Colonel Dickins Dead.

Philadelphia, November 9.—Colonel Randolph Dickins, U. S. M. C., commander of marines at the Boston navy yard, died tonight in the United States naval hospital in this city. He was admitted to the hospital five days ago to undergo an operation. He was 61 years old.

Increase in Cotton Exports Causes Cheerful Comment

Everything in Movement of Cotton Points to Normal Conditions Before Many Days—Advances Recorded at Several Points.

New Orleans, November 9.—Swelled receipts of cotton at important interior points and healthy increase in the export movement, when compared with the amount received at the ports today, caused much cheerful comment among cotton traders. Total receipts at the ports today were 60,143 bales and the export movement was 52,250 bales.

The outstanding feature of the interior receipts was at Houston. The total, 43,840 bales, was larger by several thousand bales than the receipts for any one day last year or in 1912.

This was taken to mean that reports of heavy buying in the large cotton counties of Texas during the last fortnight were true.

That the demand is not abating apparently is reflected in the steady advance of the price of spot cotton at Dallas, another eighth of a cent being added today. The sales in that important market were 9,877 bales at 7 1-8 cents.

Notwithstanding increased interior receipts, the movement to the ports is not yet normal. The total for the season is 1,786,771 bales, against 4,394,-626 for the corresponding date last year. While stocks at the ports are beginning to pile up, many traders here feel that shipments at the middle and last of November will hold them down some. It is reported that freight brokers have found a good market for those dates. Stocks at all ports today totaled 960,249 bales, against 698,378 a week ago.

9,828,695 BALES OF COTTON CROP GINNED

Nearly Million More Bales Ginned Than in Same Period Last Year.

Washington, November 9.—The fourth cotton ginning report of the season, compiled from reports of census bureau correspondents and agents throughout the cotton states, issued at 10 a. m. today, announced that 9,828,695 bales of cotton, counting round as half bales, of the growth of 1914 has been ginned prior to November 1. This compared with 8,330,396 bales, or 63.2 per cent of the entire crop, ginned to that date, or 65.8 per cent in 1912, and 2,970,041 bales, or 64.1 per cent, in 1911. The average quantity of cotton ginned prior to November 1 for the past seven years was 8,336,349 bales, or 63.4 per cent of the crop.

Included in the ginnings were 22,976 round bales, against 61,077 last year, and 4,519 in 1912 and 68,213 in 1911.

Sea island cotton included numbered 43,251 bales, counting as with 4,2,804 bales last year, 28,587 bales in 1912 and 34,663 bales in 1911.

Ginnings prior to November 1, by states, with comparisons for the past three years and the percentage of the entire crop ginned to November 1 prior to that date in the same years, follow:

WHEAT UNSETTLED; PRICES CLOSED OFF

Day's Developments Unsatisfactory to Bulls — Corn and Oats Also Lost—Provisions Easy.

Chicago, November 9.—Speculative selling, due to the absence of any radical bullish news, operated as a drag today on wheat. Prices at the close were unsettled, 1 to 1-2c to 2 1-2c lower than on Saturday night. Other cereals, too, suffered a net decline—corn, 5-8 to 7-8c and oats, 1-4 to 1-2@5-8c. In provisions, the outcome was unchanged to 10c down.

Although wheat traders appeared influenced by crop report weakness, the falling off soon in the crop movement to the principal terminals, it could not be denied that today's developments were far from satisfactory to the bears. The receipts were heavier than either last week or a year ago, and there was still an uncomfortable rate of increase in the domestic visible supply total.

Unfounded fear of a bearish Washington crop report weakened corn. The government estimate was bullish.

Oats felt the depression in other grains.

Selling by packers eased off the provision market.

PRODUCTION OF CORN 2,705,692,000 BUSHELS

Most Valuable Corn Crop Ever Grown Owing to High Prices Caused by European War.

Washington, November 9.—This year's corn crop is, perhaps, the most valuable ever grown, owing to the disturbance in the movement of agricultural products caused by the European war. The department of agriculture announced today its estimate that the crop would amount to 2,705,692,000 bushels. On November 1 farmers were being paid 69.7 cents a bushel for corn, or a total value based on November 1 figures, is $1,886,567,000.

Other information as to the size of the country's most important crops, and of given today when the department of agriculture issued its first preliminary estimates in a report on preliminary estimates in a report on the crop.

The total production this year of the principal crops, as announced in the preliminary estimates, with comparisons for the last year, follow:

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

Advance information from Bradstreet's November issue shows that building operations all over the United States during October showed a tendency to sag. Reports are shown from seventy-one cities, including Atlanta.

Aggregate building expenditures during October, 1914, are reported at $29,-120,873, against expenditures of $30,-211,362 of the preceding month, September. October of last year showed $34,609,224. This shows a national decrease of 5.6 per cent from September, 1912, and 15.8 per cent from October that year.

Atlanta's decrease, however, is shown by Bradstreet's not to be so marked as some of the larger cities. Building has been steady here throughout the year.

There has been a pronounced feature of the coming of the good roads congress that has claimed the attention of experts. It is the rise brought in rural property. The construction of better roads beyond the city limits along the country highways and the improvements made on all of them has brought a rapid increase in rural values.

Realty men have stated that where a year ago property in some sections of the country bordering on the city limits could have been purchased for a surprisingly small rate, it is now on the market at a flattering price. Good automobile highways have led to the erection of country homes for city residents, and it is this that is really been attributed the rise in country values.

A permit was taken out Monday for a factory building to be erected by the Bass-Young company, furniture manufacturers, on Lakewood avenue, near the railroad tracks. Work will begin shortly. The structure will cost $9,000.

C. E. Spear, of the Martin-Osburn Realty company, has sold for C. W. Wynn to F. G. McLean a residence at 86 Pegram Terrace. The consideration was not disclosed.

BROOKS HAS FINE MENU FOR GA. PRODUCTS DAY

Quitman, Ga., November 3.—(Special.)—The Brooks County Industrial club is making very elaborate preparations for the observance of Georgia Products day on Wednesday, November 18, and announcement today that the speaker for the occasion would be Hon. Hoke Lovelyo, of LaGrange, one of the most brilliant orators in the state. Colonel Lovelyo was selected and he immediately wired his acceptance of the invitation.

The club announces that everything on the menu will be a product of Brooks county, including grapefruit grown in the northern part of the county, celery grown on the border line of Florida. Wild turkey killed in the swamps will be on the table and "possum treed specially for the occasion. Quite the least item of the bill of fare will be the famous Brooks county hams and bacon. Plates will be spread for three hundred or five hundred diners, and Brooks county is going in to win all the prizes offered by the Georgia Chamber of Commerce.

SOUTHERN EDITORS TO DISCUSS COTTON

ECZEMA COVERED CHILDREN'S HANDS

Had to Keep Hands Tied Up. Itched So Could Not Rest at Night. Cried About All the Time. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Healed.

Lafayette, Tenn.—"I received great benefit from the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. My children's hands were covered with running sores and I had to keep their hands tied up. The eczema came in yellow pimples and turned to a sore eruption also bled. They itched so bad the children could not rest at night and cried about all the time.

"We had tried several remedies without relief when I sent for samples of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. They helped so much I got some more and the Cuticura Soap and Ointment healed them without leaving any scars. There hasn't been any signs of sores since and that was nearly a year ago. I think they are the greatest remedies in the world." (Signed) Mrs. Isabell Curtis, Jan. 28, 1914.

Samples Free by Mail

Care for your hair with Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. BRYAN FINDS COMFORT IN ELECTION RETURNS

Secretary Says Result Proves Country Is With President Wilson.

Washington, November 9.—Secretary Bryan, back at the state department today after his campaign trip west, issued a formal statement summarising election results and declaring they could not be considered other than as an indorsement of President Wilson and his policies. Pointing to the aggressive stamp as the outstanding feature of the election returns, Mr. Bryan said this had resulted in no change in the leadership of the regular republican ranks; that Senator Penrose and Former Speaker Cannon would represent their party in congress and the progressives returning to the republican party would have to accept all they had protested against and more.

Bryan's Statement.

The statement reads:

"The 1914 election cannot be considered other than as an indorsement of the president and his policies. I am so convinced of the merits of the remedial measures enacted under the president's leadership and of the righteousness of his foreign policy that I expected the voters to support the candidates who represented those views. There were a number of causes which operated against our party, namely, the efforts of the beneficiaries of protection who, out of resentment, sought to make the tariff law obnoxious; the disturbed conditions caused by the European war, and the fact that no constructive law passed by congress had not had time to prove their worth. Then, too, more progressives returned to the republican party than we expected—this alone accounted for most of the republican gains in the house of representatives. The outlook for 1916 is sufficiently complete to show that the people are with the president, and he is now able to continue the splendid program upon which he has entered.

Gains in the Senate.

"The gains in the senate are especially gratifying—not a single democrat defeated for re-election, and three senatorships taken from the republicans.

"There is every reason to believe the administration will grow in popularity as the laws go into effect, and as democratic policies bear fruit. The new currency law is just beginning to operate; before the next election it will have vindicated its claim to public confidence.

"The new tariff law cannot be repealed until after the people have had a chance to try it out, and now that the election is over the protected manufacturers are already resuming work. Some of them suspended operations or cut down their force before the election; and they did it under conditions which left little doubt that they hoped to arouse opposition to the new tariff law. Seeing that the law is here to stay they will now proceed to remove state the fallacy of the arguments which they used in opposing reduction.

"The president's foreign policies are indorsed and his hands strengthened.

The Progressive Slump.

"The outstanding fact in the late election returns is the slump of the progressive vote. A large percentage of the progressive republicans have returned to the republican party, and that, too, without any surrender on the part of the 'standpatters' and reactionaries. The leadership of the regular republican party has undergone no change. Senator Penrose and ex-Speaker Cannon will represent their party in the senate and house and the returning progressives will be permitted to accept all that they protested against and more for the standpatters, after having overcome the defection, are even farther from reforms than they were two years ago.

"The democratic party deserves the support of all real progressives, and in the next two years it will draw to itself those progressives who understand the radical nature of the issue which separates the democrat from the aristocrat and the plutocrat."

SOLUTION IS AT HAND FOR EXCHANGE PROBLEM

Washington, November 9.—Final solution of the foreign exchange problem probably will be presented to the federal reserve board before the end of the week. Officials tonight were confident arrangements satisfactory to American and English bankers and to the two governments would be made.

Sir George Paish, who was to meet with the board today, says that his communications with the home government were not concluded, and the meeting will be held later in the week.

Treasury officials said no hitch has occurred, and that the delay was only such as might be expected in dealings of such importance.

New "Peg" Pleases Atlanta; Large Audience Sees Play

When tow-headed little "Peg" O'Connell stole demurely into Chichester reception rooms last night and placed her telescope handbag on the floor, the audience at "Peg o' My Heart," at the Atlanta, realized that from this point on things were never going to cease happening in the show.

"Peg" had an audacious tilt to her nose and a disreputable dog in her arms. There was a girlish defiance in her manner, and she was as wholesomely Irish as the green on a shamrock. She took the first chair she came to and waited for her dignified hosts to break the ice.

And, from this point on "Peg" never stopped starting things. Every movement she unconsciously saved the Chichester home from destitution by permitting the owners to become her guardians, until the close of the last act when she broke down their aversion to her and left them glad she had come, household continually in hot water—and herself continually on the verge of laughs.

"Peg" O'Connell is as refreshing a little girl as one would ever want to know. She is irresistibly young. She is a Peter Pan of Ireland. She'd never grow up.

She is impulsive, headstrong—even tomboyish. You can imagine what that sort of little girl would grow to become where the son wears a monocle and the stately daughter carries a Pomeranian!

But, maybe you have met her, somehow. Most of last night's audience knew her. They had seen her last season, but seemed to remember "Peg" as younger. Her youth was irresistible. It's so easy to smile and shed a tear with "Peg" and so easy to forget everyday affairs and revel in the glory of Peg's overpowering youth.

There was only one difference between the Peg of last night's performance and Peg of last year's—the artist who played "Peg." This season it is Miss Jane Grey, a girl who succeeded Miss Hall, last night, it is understood, in the first workout she will pany now playing in Atlanta. A great tribute to the art of Miss Moore was the admirable manner in which she adapted herself to the company. She acted the difficult role as though it had been written to fit her.

She was supported by a good company. Joseph Allenton, as "Alaric," the Scottish son—typically Scottish—who "tries-but-can't," brought many a laugh.

Miss Alma Chester was admirable in the role of "Mrs. Chichester." F. L. Sullivan, as "Lord Dorincourt" and Miss Evelyn Varden "Ethel."

"Peg" will be at the Atlanta all week, usual matinees.

Sometimes it is a hard task to write about a show. Especially is this so when other folks like the bill and you care little for it. When you are pleased, and when the crowd agrees with you—however, it's easy enough. This week is one of the times when it's not a matter of finding words to say, but rather of being able to stop within a given amount of space.

If you're variety, you will find it at the Forsyth. If you care for animal acts, they are there; if pastimes amuse you, Mercedes will let you worry yourself to death, and if you like to hear songs and watch experts dance, why the Forsyth is the antidote for the blues.

The headliner is the mystification feature performed by the aforementioned Mercedes, who, with the assistance of Mlle. Stantone, a most talented pianist, leaves you guessing long after their part of the show is over.

The young lady is seated at a piano with her eyes covered with a bandage. Mercedes passes through the audience and invites those present to whisper to him song selections. When done, he invites them to ask the lady at the piano to play it. Never does she fail them. From rag to opera, from the old to the new, the pantomimic pianist now and then her range in the field of music seems unlimited.

Then the requests came thick and fast. A man asked for "Everybody's Doing It;" two women were next to call for "Grow Cold;" a boy spotted Rooney and Marion Bent, also on the program, behind the curtain which he adapted herself to the company. FARM ASSOCIATIONS ARE IN CONFERENCE

Washington, November 9.—Four of the ten national agricultural associations which are to hold annual meetings here this week began their first sessions today. Questions involving improvement of farm management and scientific increase of production will be dealt with from many angles.

Considerable attention was devoted to a plan for the establishment of a national university by the National Association of Agricultural Students. Dr. H. P. Kane, president of the University of Washington and also of the association, discussed the plan in his annual address. The plan contemplated, he said, a graduate college, where the many resources of the government, especially Muscle Shoals, could be investigated, and educational training, but now are unused, will be employed. It was not proposed, he said, to invade the field of present universities in any way.

Among the subjects which will be considered by all of the organizations assembling during the week will be the agricultural extension act, recently passed by congress, under which $40,000,000 in federal and state funds will be employed during the next nine years in farm demonstration work, and the vocational training bill, now pending.

FOR SECRET WIRELESS SEARCH IS ORDERED

Washington, November 9.—Persistent reports that hidden wireless stations along the coasts of the United States are serving as information bureaus for belligerent cruisers at sea have caused the navy to join the state department in efforts to locate such stations if they actually exist.

It became known tonight that plans for the search have been arranged in conferences between Counsellor Lansing of the state department, Secretary Daniels and Captain Bullard, in charge of the naval radio service.

According to the reports, both Germans and Japanese have concealed wireless outfits. One is said to be in the woods of the Maine coast, another in the northwest and still another on the Florida peninsula.

Messages picked up by merchant ships apparently came from these stations. Naval experts say it would be a comparatively simple matter to rig up antennae for a sending wireless outfit between a couple of tall forest trees in a manner to escape casual observation, while the necessary power might be derived from some innocent looking sawmill in the heart of the forest.

SAFEGUARDS FOR TRADE WITH NEUTRAL POWERS

Washington, November 9.—Commerce between the United States and Norway, Sweden and Denmark in products, the re-exportation of which the latter three countries have prohibited, has been safeguarded against delays and misunderstandings, Secretary Bryan and Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, announced today that the British fleet had been ordered not to interfere with such cargoes when consigned to a specific person or company in neutral countries.

Great Britain hitherto has detained cargoes consigned merely "to order" on the suspicion that even though destined to a neutral country, they in reality were to be trans-shipped to a belligerent. When each shipment has a specific consignee, the British officers merely will examine the papers of a neutral ship and not delay her voyage unless engaged in some unneutral activity.

"We are trying," said Secretary Bryan, "to do everything possible in the interest of the foreign trade of American shippers and exporters. We hope soon to have arrangements completed with Norway, Sweden and Denmark apply to other neutral countries."

During the day Mr. Bryan issued a statement saying the British ambassador had given assurances that England did not regard tobacco as contraband, and would not interfere with it when shipped in neutral bottoms.

AMERICAN MILLS NEED WOOL FROM AUSTRALIA

Washington, November 9.—Representatives of the National Woolen Manufacturing association appealed to the state department today to ask Great Britain to modify the Australian embargo on wool to all countries except the mother country, to permit shipments to the United States. They contend that the manufacturing industry in this country will be badly crippled for lack of wool from Australia, which furnishes almost half of the raw material used here.

The state department officials promised to take the question up with the British ambassador here.

THEY MUST GO TO TRIAL FOR ALLEGED FRAUD

Kansas City, November 9.—Federal Judge Pollack late today dismissed a motion by attorneys for E. C. Chambers, president, and four alleged agents of the Chambers Land company to have indictments against them quashed. The defendants are on trial in federal court, charged with using the mails to defraud and to promote a conspiracy in the sale of Florida land.

Failing in their efforts to have the indictments dismissed, attorneys for the defendants asked for a "bill of particulars." The court announced its decision on that point would be announced tomorrow.

In addition to Chambers the defendants are the Rev. Albert E. Gammage, Kansas City; Everett Russell, Miami, Fla.; C. H. Hubbard, Pittsburg, Kan., and F. W. Harper, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

BIRMINGHAM SOUTHERN HELD COMMON CARRIER

Allowance Made by A., B. & A. Road Found Not to Be in Nature of Rebate.

Washington, November 9.—The Birmingham Southern railroad today was held by the interstate commerce commission to be a common carrier, "and as such entitled to make joint rates with other carriers and to receive divisions out of such rates."

A maximum division of 6.5 cents a ton on carload traffic, allowed to the Birmingham Southern by the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad was "found not to be in the nature of a rebate." Other carriers are expected to make such an adjustment as to divisions on less-than-carload traffic with the Birmingham Southern as will conform to the 6.5 cents division on carload traffic.

The Birmingham Southern is controlled by the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company, and was alleged to be merely a plant facility of that company. The commission, however, holds that on traffic switched to or from the plants of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company, at Birmingham and Bessemer, the Birmingham Southern "will be entitled to a switching charge of $2 a car."

"Coal, steel and other products of the Tennessee company, outside switching limits of Birmingham and Bessemer" or Ensley, will be provided with joint rates which will be lower than are expected to merely in effect and not higher than the Birmingham Southern.

From the majority opinion, prepared by Commissioner Meyer, Commissioner Harlan dissented. He held that the Birmingham Southern was merely a plant facility of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company and performed only a shipper's service for that company, and that its lines join together "all the mills, furnaces and affiliated industries of the proprietary company," and that its remaining traffic is purely incidental. He finds that such a condition results in discrimination against shippers other than the proprietary concerns, and concludes that "the manufacturing concerns of the country will not be slow, as the result of the rulings here made, to make the necessary arrangements to relieve themselves of the cost of operating their plant facilities of this character."

To encourage the hemp industry, the government of Manila has offered a substantial bonus for improved methods of extracting the fiber.
